Folmar investigates inventory

Clerk finds missing city possessions

By JIM CARRAVALLAH

Of The Roman Staff

All but one item reported as missing from the Romulus City Hall in a recent inventory have been found by the city clerk.

Last week, the city's auditors Adelson, Weitz, Wituz and Company, gave the city's treasurer, John B. Lewkowicz, a report saying 65 items, ranging from tape recorders to wastebaskets "could not be physically located, and are presumed missing."

Lewkowicz said Romulus City Clerk Leonard Folmar had the responsibility for accounting for the items during the past administration.

'It is a disservice to taxpayers.'

LAST FRIDAY, Folmar found 57 of the missing 65 items, and said that only one item on the list could not be accounted for.

"It indicates to me that the entire report is a joke,"

Folmar said. "It's a disservice to the taxpayers who have to pay for this kind of work."

Folmar said he took his own survey of the city's possessions and turned up 133 items with an estimated value of $10,000 which had been accounted for by the auditor.

Folmar added that he found the 133 items during a 2½ hour check of the city hall against records he held in his office. "I HAD TWO girls inexperienced at handling audits and myself to check the same lists we gave the present auditors," he said. "We turned up all these items in a short time."

"What did the auditors do in four months?"

Folmar said he knows for certain that the auditors left other important items off their inventory.

"There are three voting machines, valued at $2,000 apiece, left off the list," he said. "I gave the guy the key to fire station where they are located myself."

"EVIDENTLY he didn't use it."

"It's a shame all this money had to be expended to get half the job done."

Folmar said the only item he could not account for on the original missing list of the auditors was a tape recorder. Six other items, including four shotguns, a movie projector and a cassette tape recorder which were listed as presumed missing by the auditors were stolen. A report was filed at the Wayne County Sheriff's Department on the theft, Folmar said.

The four shotguns were part of the former Romulus Police Department's armament, and the projector and tape recorder were stolen from the Romulus Public library, he added.

MISSING ITEMS FOUND — Romulus City Clerk Leonard Folmar is surrounded by workers from the clerk's department and equipment which was declared missing by the city's auditors last week. Folmar spent Friday looking for the equipment and putting it in front of his office, to demonstrate the poor job the auditors did on a recent inventory. Besides accounting for 63 of 64 items declared missing, Folmar found another 133 items which were unaccounted for in the inventory. — Photo by Romulus Roman Chief Photographer Letha Konietzko.

Despite mistake

Auditor defends inventory work on city holdings

The auditors who recently filed a report saying 65 items were presumed missing from the Romulus City Hall said the company "normally don't take inventories."

Lloyd Adelson, partner in the firm of Adelson, Weitz, Wituz and Company, said he undertook an inventory of the city's fixed assets more as a favor for Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt than as a part of the firm's regular work.

"Auditors don't normally take inventories," Adelson said. "We were told, that the city wanted to set up a new perpetual inventory procedure, and offered to affect a starting point for it."

"WE WEREN'T trying to place blame for missing items, that wasn't our job. But we did want to make up a list of items which we could not account for."

Adelson's list showed 64 items that could not be physically located and presumed missing or which were tagged and either could not be located or were observed without a tag.

However, Adelson said he had "no other purpose than establishing a starting point" and that his firm wasn't "here to make accusations."

"In fact, we suggested that all items of no value be disposed of," he added. "We expected a margin of error because we couldn't seal off the building to make a detailed inventory."

"PEOPLE COULD have moved things, such as the ashtrays, during the audit. But there are certain things, such as the shotguns, which should be accounted for and that's why we listed them."

"We weren't concerned about the waste baskets or desks, but those shotguns should be found."

Adelson said the city now "has a starting point" from which it can keep track of the items.

"We were working from four- and five-year-old lists," he said. "That's what made it difficult. But now things should be better because we have recommended new tags and a perpetual auditing system, which allows more flexibility over long periods of time."

"THE TREASURER told me he wanted everything done to make procedures in the city proper. And as far as I'm concerned, I have no business worrying about anything that happened before we were hired in November."

"That's why we didn't concern ourselves with listing things as missing. Our report wasn't prepared in that spirit."

Employees refuse overtime work; 3 other city workers regain jobs

'The DPW employees thought I was trying to do other workers out of their jobs.' -- Mayor Troutt the developers, even though they wanted to get tough," the mayor added. "So then the entire process relaxed and the people now are living in poor housing because of it."

"We're going to have to tell the developers that Romulus won't tolerate this anymore. And when they get the message, we'll either get better buildings, or the developers will move out and responsible ones will take their place."

Employees laid off from the Romulus Building Department are back to work today because Romulus Department of Public Works (DPW) employees refused to work overtime last week, according to a city official.

The DPW employees refused the overtime when they learned that two employees were laid off and a third had his hours cut because of "lack of work."

Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt last week said that funds saved in the lay-offs would be spent on hiring an engineering firm to investigate shoddy building practices in the city's newer subdivisions.

HOWEVER, employees at the DPW construed the lay-off and proposed hiring of an outside firm as replacing full-time employees with contractual services in violation of their union contract.

"The DPW employees thought I was trying to do other workers out of their jobs," Troutt said. "But then the building department employees agreed to handle the extra work, so I called them back, rather than replace them."

The extra work is examining recently built homes to see if they were shoddily built.

Last week Troutt chastised two developers for building sub-standard housing. But Monday he said the fault laid with the city.

"A BUILDER is out to make a buck," Troutt said. "They'll cut corners to make a better profit, unless the city is tough and holds them to regulations."

"The fault lies with the neglecting to construct the homes properly, and the city giving them occupancy permits, despite the poor workmanship."

"The fault lies with the council and the mayor who allowed the building department to function in that manner."

"In the past the building department employees were told to 'relax things a bit' for

At its facilities PCHA to prohibit abortion

By JIM CARRAVALLAH

Of The Roman Staff

After action Thursday, abortions will not be allowed at Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) facilities, including Annapolis

Hospital in Wayne.

The PCHA Board of Directors voted to suspend rules of operation governing abortions until the court rules on who should allow abortions.

Anti-abortion organizations are seeking judicial relief to give clinics and hospitals the right to reject abortions under Michigan's new abortion reform code.

The board unanimously decided to withdraw the rules for performing abortions in the hospitals, adopted in September.

The suspension of rules does not outlaw abortions in PCHA facilities as such, but eliminates guidelines under which they can be performed.

With the absence of guidelines, abortions can not be performed in PCHA facilities, including Annapolis, Outer Drive Hospital in Lincoln Park, Seaway Hospital in Trenton and Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti.

Roman offers chance for airing of 'gripes'

Did you ever get that feeling nobody wants to listen to your complaint about the way school and municipal governments are being run.

Did you ever get a run-around on a routine complaint, and had the secretary tell you: "That's not our responsibility. Let me connect you with the right department."

On the third office switch the phone goes dead. Sound familiar?

Then again, there are times you'd like to say something nice about Johnny's teacher, the friendly postman, the city official who takes extra time to resolve a problem — but how do you express your appreciation.

The opportunity to air your "gripes and compliments" is available every Wednesday and it won't cost you one penny — right here in The Romulus Roman.

And it'll only take a few minutes of your time. Just jot down your thoughts and send it to our "Voice of the People" column which appears on the editorial page.

All letters must be signed, but if for good reasons you want your name withheld — we'll do it. We'll publish your letter in complete confidence.

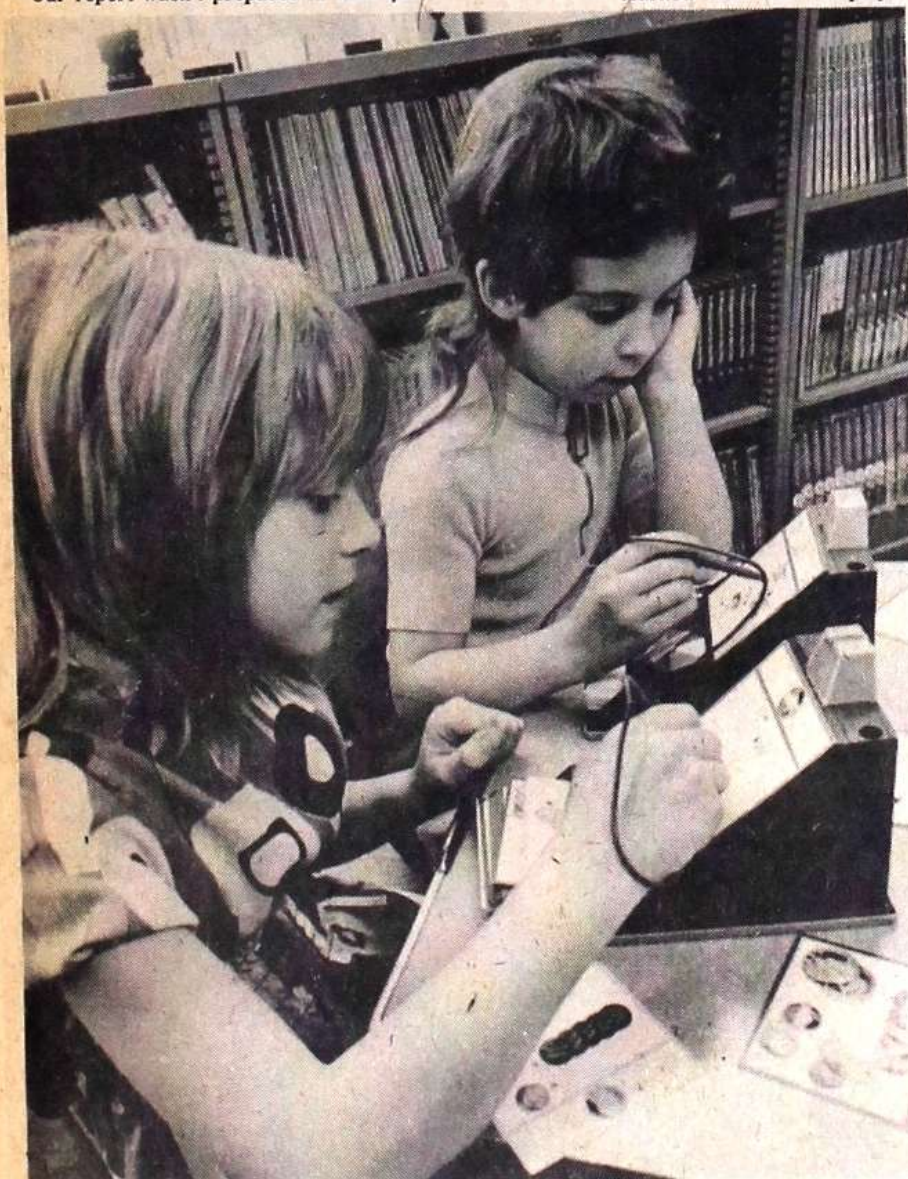

Got a gripe or compliment? Don't talk about it, write it down and share your feelings with others.

A MECHANICAL TUTOR — Students now can work on an individual level to improve their weaker subjects with a mechanical tutor, which lights up each time they correctly answer a problem on its screen. The tutorgram, in use at Walker Elementary School, contains cards on different subjects.

Huron Township won't have to worry about how to pay for its share of a study required before a new drainage system can be constructed.

The Wayne County Road Commission, operators of the Detroit Metropolitan Airport in Romulus, has agreed to pay the full $60,000 for a study required by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Wayne County Drain Commission.

The study is designed to determine whether the Huron River can handle the extra water and increase in pressure which would be dumped into the river if drainage from Romulus and Huron was diverted to it.

Until the county had agreed to pay, the cost of the study had been apportioned with Huron Township paying $10,000, Romulus paying $35,000 and the road commission paying the remainder.

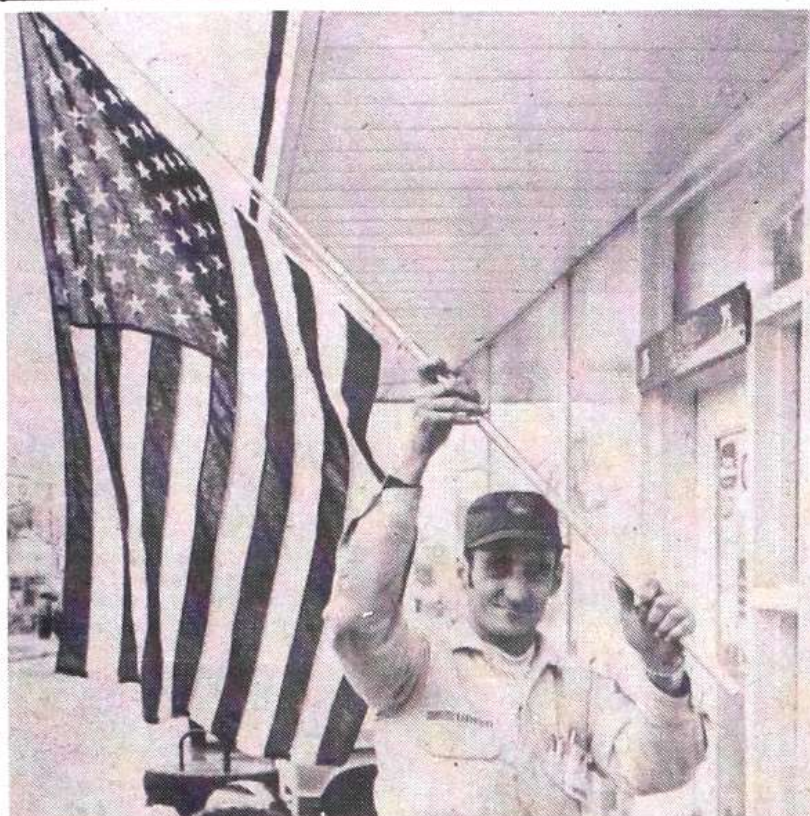

Last week, Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt said the Huron Township Board of Trustees were reluctant to pay their share for the project. He favored having the county pay the cost with the understanding that the money would either go toward the cost of the $15 million project or would be reimbursed if the project did not proceed.

Troutt said the study would begin within two weeks, with results returned within two months.

If the study proves the extra run-off can be handled by the Huron River, a decision will be made whether to start construction on the project, he added.

"The biggest hold-back, if the study proves to be good, will be over apportionment of the costs," Troutt said. Rough percentages show Romulus paying 57 per-cent share, the airport paying 25 per-cent share and Huron paying 18 per-cent of the costs.

Census bill may ease funding pinch in cities

Michigan communities, experiencing population booms, may not have to wait until the next federal census to collect their fair share of state funds, based on a suggestion by Belleville Mayor Royce Smith.

State Senator William Faust (D-Westland) has introduced corrective legislation which would allow any county, village, city or township to hold a census between the two federal censuses.

"This mid-decade census, suggested by Belleville Mayor Royce Smith, is needed to insure that booming communities receive their fair share of state gasoline sales, revenue sharing and similar programs," Faust said. "By law, local communities share certain state revenues based on their population, according to the last federal census."

"Because federal census are taken every 10 years, growing communities now do not receive their fair share of state tax money. This inequity has a crippling effect on local units of government, forced to provide expanding services without expanded state revenues."

The report also showed that in the last three years, the population in Van Buren Township has increased 36.8 per cent. Romulus has charted a 15.8 per cent population growth and Belleville has grown 44.6 per cent.

"My bill will take some of the pinch out of the growing pains experienced by budding communities by enabling them to rely on a more up-to-date and realistic census," Faust said.

Farmers to attend meetings

Among the two plane loads of Michigan farmers who will converge on the nation's capital Monday to discuss issues of concern to the agricultural industry with their congressmen will be Glenn Miller of 22160 Elwell Rd., Belleville.

Of the 114 farm leaders from throughout the state who will participate in the four-day legislative session, 58 have been selected as legislative leaders, including Miller, by their Wayne County Farm Bureau.

As spokesmen for the farmers in the various counties, the legislative leaders will meet with the congressmen to discuss key issues and the policies of their farm organization. In addition to personal visits with their national legislators, a breakfast has been scheduled with Republican congressman and a luncheon with Democratic congressman.

The group also will attend committee hearings, visit the U.S. Department of Agriculture and tour historic sites in the Washington, D.C. area.

The men and women designated as legislative leaders are full-time farmers, who are active in policy development or legislative activities in their Farm Bureau organizations.

Representing the Michigan Farm Bureau in Washington will be the organization's president, Elton R. Smith, a Kent County farmer, and several other members of the state board of directors.

Bids open for new vehicles

The Van Buren Township Water Department is seeking bid proposals on the purchase of a small car and a three-quarter-ton pick-up truck.

Specifications on the two vehicles are available at the township clerk's office, 46425 Tyler Rd.

Officials said that although bids are requested on the two vehicles, only one will be purchased. Bids must be submitted by 7 p.m. March 12.

REPAIRING ROADS—Trucks were out on Burton Street in Romulus Monday attempting to battle rising water levels compounded with a melting of ground frost by dumping gravel on the roadway. Although the gravel should have solidified the road base, it sank into the ground due to the heavy flooding conditions, making the road no better than before the material was dumped. Mayor Terry L. Troutt claims the only solution to the problem is an improved drainage system in the city, a plan he's working out with the Detroit Metropolitan Airport and Huron Township.—Romulus Roman photo.

'Light the Way' tickets available

Tickets still are on sale for the "Let's Light the Way Ball" to be held at 8 p.m. Friday in the UAW 157 Hall on Van Born Road in Romulus.

Tickets, at $10 per person, will be on sale at the dance or are available at the Romulus City Hall.

Music by "Fusion," a show band, and the "Sunny Skies," a dance band, will be featured.

All money collected from ticket sales will go toward lighting the softball field at the Elmer Johnson Park and the football field behind Romulus High School.

All beer and snacks for the dance, the entertainment and the hall use, were donated to the fund-raising group.

Romulus Sports Fund Development Committee Chairman Mel Morgan hopes for a good turn-out at the dance.

"It will determine whether we can go ahead immediately with our plan to light the field," he said. "If we reach our $10,000 goal immediately, Monday I'll sign the contract for lighting the softball field and we'll begin work on raising the remaining funds."

Seniors citizens eye funding

By DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

Senior citizens in Huron Township want for a portion of Huron's federal revenue sharing funds for recreation purposes. But they likely will end up waiting in line with numerous other groups and organizations seeking a chunk of the money, an official said.

Emil Krzyske, 78, treasurer of the Huron Township Senior Citizens Club, put in a plea for the group at last week's township board meeting, saying he felt the group is entitled to about $1,200 per year—the same amount allotted to the senior citizens in neighboring Ash Township. "I think we're entitled to some of the revenue which was allocated to the township," Krzyske said. "We seem to be a forgotten organization. Other groups get money."

'We seem to be a forgotten organization. Other groups get money.'

HURON'S FEDERAL revenue sharing allotment last year was between $26,000 and $27,000, one official said. Krzyske said his organization needs the money for recreation purposes, particularly group outings. "We like to take bus trips to Detroit, Frankenmuth, Belle Isle and Windsor and have to finance them through such things as bake sales but that doesn't bring enough," he added. "The members have to pay for their own meals on the trips, so a lot of them can't go—they can't afford it. "We'd like to see them all go. As it is, we really can't have much recreation." Krzyske said the group's last trip was to a Tiger ball game last summer. "A trip once a month would be nice," he said. "The Huron Senior Citizens Club is 80-members strong."

THE ORGANIZATION'S quest for financial aid probably will wind up stalled, however, said one Huron official. "It would be a bad move if we gave the senior citizens the money, because then every organization in the township would feel entitled to some funds," he added. "I don't want to make it sound like I'm against the senior citizens, but the revenue sharing money is supposed to go for capital improvement purposes in the township—it's for everybody in the township, not just certain groups," the official said. "The board told the senior citizens they should come to annual meeting March 30 and request the money like any other organization."

Family owes life to child

A Romulus family may owe its life today to its youngest member.

The Michael McLain family of 6430 Ball Rd. escaped injury early Sunday morning when the McLains' baby awakened his parents with his cries during a fire in the house.

According to the Romulus Fire Department, the fire began approximately 4:30 Sunday morning in the hallway of the three-bedroom house.

It damaged the hallway, family room and kitchen of the home before it was brought under control.

Fire personnel in Romulus had sketchy details on the fire.

They are continuing their investigation.

Russia revisited

Lenin...and 'metro' system defy time

(Second of four-part series)

MOSCOW — Lenin's body and Moscow's Metro subway system defy time in the most remarkable way.

It almost seems that both were caught up in one of those imaginary time warp machines described so often by science fiction writers. I first visited the tomb in Red Square and the subway 16 years ago while doing a six months stint in Moscow for the Associated Press. The other day I paid a return visit.

WHILE THE SOVIET UNION is full of surprises, nothing startled me quite so much as viewing Lenin's body again and riding in one of the underground trains.

Only one thing had changed. In 1958 Stalin's body was shown beside Lenin. Subsequently Stalin's body was moved a few feet away and buried in a conventional grave outside the Kremlin walls in a row of graves containing the remains of old Bolsheviks and Soviet military heroes. The body remains there to this day, a sign that Stalin's reputation never fully recovered from Khrushchev's denunciation of the Stalinist tactic of rule by terror.

Stalin finds new resting place...along the Kremlin Wall

The inside of the tomb was lit in 1958 by a deep red light, rather like the lights used below deck on an aircraft carrier when it is operational. STALIN AND LENIN were seen somewhat dimly as you passed along three sides of a large glass case which contained the couch-like structure on which the bodies were placed.

Now the inside of the tomb is brightly lighted. Lenin, resting there alone, can be seen extremely clearly. Obviously all sorts of preservation methods have been employed, but I am convinced it actually is Lenin's body.

Some western skeptics suggest it is a wax model, but I have visited some of the world's great wax works museums and in my own mind I am confident I can tell the difference between a human body and a figure made of wax.

THE RUSSIANS HAVE PRESERVED everything they could get their hands on connected with Lenin's life. This includes not only his notes for speeches, letters and books but such things as his clothing, the automobile he used and various personal objects such as razors and watches.

To me the relic of greatest interest is the old steam locomotive which pulled the train containing Lenin when he arrived in Petrograd (now Leningrad) in April, 1917 and made his famous speech on the station platform calling for "bread and peace." This started the chain of events which led to the greatest political upheaval of the 20th century.

On the platform of that same station inside a giant glass case the locomotive remains preserved polished and cared for like some icon of an earlier era. The engine itself actually resembles the type used in the American West 100 years ago, including the big cabbage-top smokestack.

The contrast between Moscow's subway system, called the Metro, and that of New York is like day and night.

THE MOSCOW SUBWAY stations with their giant mosaics and statues produce an odd impact on many westerners. They are admired as sort of art galleries making a cultural impact on workers hurrying to and from their jobs, and yet there is something funereal about them.

Yet nothing is out of place there. The platforms are spotlessly clean. Built during the 1930s, with the lines extended since, the stations and the trains look exactly the way they did 16 years ago.

No graffiti defaces the sides of the trains. No one has written rude words on the windows. The seats are undamaged.

Obviously, the residents of Moscow take pride in their subway system. But the tip-top condition of that system also reflects the fact that the destruction and theft of state property is a serious offense in the Soviet Union.

IN THE SUBWAY ITSELF and on the streets above the impact of the government's current campaign for temperance can be judged. Russians still drink vodka and other alcoholic beverages, but I received the firm impression that there was considerably less drunkenness now than 16 years ago.

While Americans would find the 'system' repressive, the discipline exercised by the state plays a part in this social habit as well.

At one time you could buy a shot of vodka from vending machines on the streets of Soviet cities. That arrangement is out now. Restaurants and hotels do not stock their tables with liquor at every meal the way they used to do.

If a Soviet citizen gets picked up by the police for public drunkenness he has a good chance of winding up in a clinic. There, if it is determined that he is on the road to alcoholism he will be given treatment. Prices of spirits are up, and there seems to be a social tendency to discourage the endless round of toasts which can bring a sag to the knees of the strongest.

As we see it

Judge Roth's path of forced busing 'wanders' aimlessly

In 1971 U.S. District Judge Stephen Roth referred to his proposed metro-wide school district plan as a venture into "uncharted waters."

After three years of controversy, the apparent charting of those waters will be traversed by the nine-man United States Supreme Court...before the next school year. The burning question is whether a child should be bused away from his or her neighborhood school to achieve classroom racial balance, and with no regard to physical school district lines.

When the state presented its defense against across district busing before the High Court this week, Michigan Attorney Gen. Frank Kelley said the nation's courts should not set social goals while searching for non-existent violations.

At issue is Judge Roth's finding that public schools in Detroit have been segregated over the years by racially discriminatory legal acts of the state and Detroit school boards.

In search of a remedy, Judge Roth ruled that a busing plan must be established to integrate the public school systems in Detroit and the predominantly white suburban districts - including Western Wayne County.

Kelley's contention, and that of the 53 suburban school districts, is, basically: "There is no discrimination within the respective suburban school districts. If there is a discriminatory pattern in Detroit, it is not the workings of suburbia nor the state. The violation rests with the Detroit board, and uncontrolled housing patterns."

But Judge Roth's ruling clearly mandates that a busing plan solely within Detroit will not achieve quality education. That the charting of equal and quality education for black and white students can only be achieved on a metro-wide district plan - and cross-district busing will serve as the vehicle.

The proponents of busing also argue that existing suburban school district lines are "imaginary" and all schools come under the jurisdiction of the State Board of Education.

They also cite that nearly 50 percent of each school district's budget comes from the state.

We find the position of pro-busing proponents unacceptable. The present school district pattern in suburbia is a recognizable entity. Each district represents a separate unit of government - much like our municipal governments.

If the state were granted powers to establish one single statewide school district, on the basis that each district receives state assistance, then the same philosophy would apply to local municipal government.

Should we accept the one district theory, then the door would be open to the tearing down of municipal boundaries - for each city also receives tax rebates from the state.

While every conscientious American detests racial discrimination in housing, employment, and in our schools - to suggest the busing of children beyond a neighborhood school because of the color of skin would be government approved reverse discrimination.

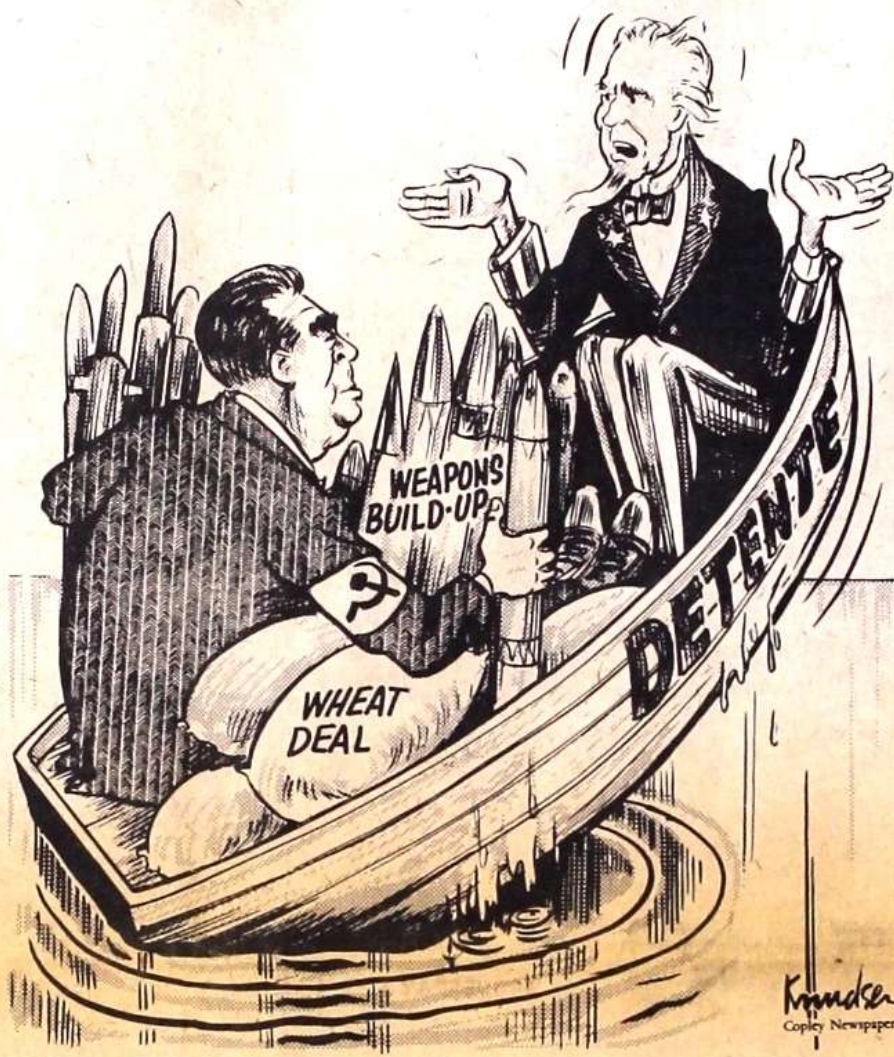

At the same time, to claim that children in Detroit are not getting a good education is an insult to each and every teacher in the Detroit system. If children are to be bused, does Judge Roth intend to include the busing of teachers too?

We find it difficult to accept the social theory that a child's education will improve because of a bus ride. Who says school in suburbia are any better than the schools in Detroit.

If the 'suburban child has an edge, it's because of family income and adequate housing. The money it would take to bus children from 53 districts would better serve the cause of impoverished Detroit.

We view Judge Roth's busing edict as an insulting insinuation that a black child can't make it unless he gets to sit next to a white child.

Hopefully, the nation's High Court will guide this nation through Judge Roth's "uncharted waters" by vetoing the judge's master social plan.

'THIS MAY NOT BE BIG ENOUGH FOR THE BOTH OF US'

Express your appreciation

The clergy serves to save mankind

A member of the clergy needs no formal recognition, but on occasion it's nice to tell the minister of your church how much he helps to bring you closer to leading a good life.

The Rev. Kurt Heidmann, who serves as Protestant chaplain at Wayne County General Hospital in Westland, was one of those so honored.

And the honor came at a recent "Salute to Clergy" observance sponsored by the Wayne Civitan Club, with Rev. Heidmann being named Civitan's "Key Citizen of the Year."

When Rev. Heidmann is not at the hospital performing his ministerial duties, you'll find him working on other types of problems in the city of Wayne.

Rev. Heidmann serves on the Wayne city council, and sits on the board of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority.

We repeat the Civitan honor to the Rev. Heidmann as a suggestion to congregations of all faiths and creeds to consider for a moment the work and sacrifice the servants of God perform in their daily chores.

When all is well, we take credit for our prosperity, good health and family life - but when in need of moral and spiritual guidance we turn to the church and expect miracles.

And if our prayers go unanswered, we question the church and all its teachings - and those who represent the church.

Next Sunday, take a few minutes and tell your minister how much you enjoyed the sermon for that day.

But before doing so, heed the message coming from the pulpit and you might find the faith and understanding of brotherhood to find a good life here on earth.

Voice of the people

Regionalism strips local jurisdiction

To the Editor: Under false statements and euphemism, regional government is being pushed on the American people. The American Independent Party wants to alert the people of Michigan that regional government would in effect abolish all existing state and local units of government, including governors and state legislatures.

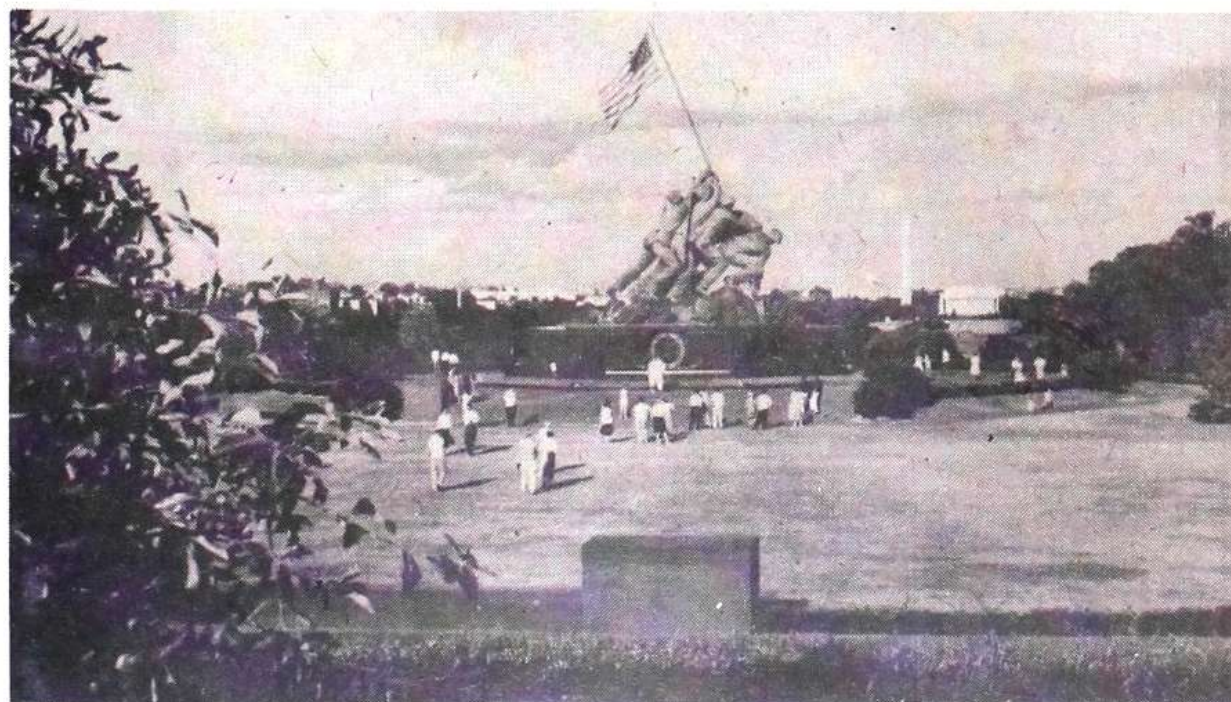

Local regional government is an extension or a product of federal regional government which divides the United States in 10 federal regional councils under Executive Order 11731, Amending Executive Order 11647.

Proponents of Regional Government very seldom mention that this is one way of phasing out the mandates and wishes of the people at the polls. Political parties have overlooked the fact that neither Federal nor State Regional Governments provide for elections.

Regional Government is an effective way of frustrating a direct relationship between citizen and his local unit of government and for an example we can see the push in Wayne County to appoint a mayoral type over the Wayne County Commissioners.

Regional Government is in effect and actually sets aside every article and amendment to the Constitution of the United States. But, as always, these encroachments upon individual freedoms are covered by euphemistic and well sounding phrases.

Loneliness

They arrive to find life, but give up

By CAROL MORELLO

Panax-Miami Beach Times Writer

MIAMI BEACH — (PNS) — Retirement sparks the exodus. The cars with far-flung northern license plates arrive in Miami Beach the year-around, their drivers anxious to renew themselves in the sunny south.

Their toils are over, their responsibilities evaporated on their 65th birthdays. They now have time to relax as they never did when they were young.

But what the senior citizens often find here is loneliness. FREQUENTLY CALLED the "ultimate" experience which transcends all ages and cultural lines, loneliness is more acute for the elderly. Often widowed, no longer in touch with their children, their health deteriorating, the senior citizens seeking the fountain of youth find Miami Beach is not their promised land.

"The elderly come here for two reasons," says Miami Beach psychiatrist Robert Sylvester.

"They want to avoid the rigors of winter weather, and they want to live longer. They figure if they have good health, they will surely find happiness and sunshine."

"BUT THEIR DISILLUSIONMENT with Miami Beach is very severe. Many have left their old and familiar surroundings, and when they come here, they find it's not easy to make new friends."

"Even if they meet new people, their loneliness catches up with them, and suddenly casual relationships are not enough."

Company in itself is no guarantee against loneliness, says psychiatrist Samuel Feldman.

"A person can be lonely even if he lives with his mate," he points out. "Or he can be not lonely, even if he lives alone."

"PEOPLE BECOME LONELY when they lose their commitment to life, something you see all too often on the Beach."

"A typical case is the married couple. The husband is retired and has the feeling of being sent out to pasture. After a lifelong identity as a viable contributor to society, suddenly that man's occupation is to play cards for pennies."

"His wife is in a similar position. Her most exciting past-time is checking out the weekly specials at the market."

SO THEY REACH OUT. They reach out pleadingly for an escape from their loneliness. Psychiatrists such as Sylvester and Feldman receive three, sometimes four calls a day from elderly patients who ask only a listening ear.

Sometimes they call that defender of the public, the police. The Miami Beach Police Dept. directs these callers to Sgt. Pete Corso. Two or three times a day, every day, Corso picks up the phone to hear an elderly voice register an imagined complaint.

"They're crying out for help," he says. "I can hear it in the tone of their voices. Please recognize I exist. Please take half an hour and talk with me so I'm not useless."

As Sylvester explains it, "It's a common human reaction to equate loneliness with being unwanted, unneeded and useless."

"I HAVE SO MANY OLDER people come in looking so neat and clean, and then they ask me, 'Do you know what it means to feel that nobody cares?' They all feel they have outlived their investment in life."

Loneliness is a recurring battle the elderly constantly fight, the psychiatrists say.

Feldman attributes it to fear.

"They are fearful because their physical health is deteriorating," he explains. "They see deaths all around them."

"They are fearful of their senility, and as they become more conscious of whether they are losing their mental powers, they lose confidence."

Sylvester calls that loss of self-confidence a natural by-product of age.

"THEY ARE MORE INSECURE, uncertain and tentative in their approach to life because their successes are all behind them," he says. "Now all they see facing them is a bleak future."

Sylvester wonders if some are determined to be lonely. "You go to any night-time senior citizens' recreation center on the Beach, and you see the outer fringes filled with people who come alone and are reluctant to go into the center where the couples are," he says.

"If you encourage them to go out and dance, the most common answer is, 'I would if my husband, or wife, were here.'"

"You can't help but wonder if they're lonelier there than if they went to the theater alone."

ONCE AN INDIVIDUAL feels lonely, he enters a never ending circle of frustration which is difficult to break, Feldman says.

MALICIOUS DESTRUCTION — Federal and local law enforcement officers are continuing their investigation of three incidents of vandalism, discovered by Van Buren Township officials in abandoned homes in the Van Buren Estates Subdivision. The homes, left vacant by their previous owners, now are owned by the federal government. Vandals after breaking into this home, climbed into the crawl space above the ceiling, knocking down the entire cover. Large holes also were found in walls throughout the home. — Enterprise-Roman photo.

First semester honorees

18 excel at Romulus High

Eighteen students at Romulus Senior High School walked away with top honors, collecting 4.0 grade point averages during the first semester of the school year.

Seven students in the 10th grade were honored for their academic achievements by being named to the school's honor roll.

Representing the sophomores were Karen Deline, David Dick, Patricia Doman, Mark Fether, Mary Dyfe, Anita Johnson and Joyce Melton.

THREE JUNIORS, Gerald Diepenhorst, Kathy Mathews and Adrien Bergesasy, also were named to the honor roll.

The seniors collected the largest number of students to be honored for their achievement with eight.

Representing the 12th grade were Colin Jordan, Kathleen Marchel, Robann Mateja, Pamela Melcher, Susan Morris, Barbara Polka, Norman Sims and Veetta Townsley.

The other honor students were:

Letford, Sylvia Liendo, Daniel McAnally, Charles McBride and Theresa Makhrzak.

Board delays naming an assistant principal

A formal decision on the appointment of an assistant principal at Belleville's South Junior High School by the Van Buren Board of Education has been deferred pending the reposting of the position and receipt of additional applicants.

The board of education, however, named John Forsythe, 36, a teacher at the school, as acting assistant principal until the end of the current school year.

Forsythe, a resident of Ypsilanti, has been a member of the teaching staff of the Van Buren Public School District since 1961, when he was appointed as a teacher at South Junior High School. He is a 1960 graduate of Eastern Michigan University and has served as both football and basketball coach at the school.

The school board met in a special session last week to decide on the appointment. However, board members decided to repost the position with various colleges to collect a wider selection of candidates.

Seven candidates, seeking the position, already have been interviewed by members of the board of education and administrative staff members. Forsythe was one of the seven candidates.

The new staff member will fill the vacancy created by the death of Mrs. Helen Nass. Mrs. Nass, who had been a member of the teaching staff for the Van Buren Public School District since 1944, died in December.

Trustees support public school plan

The Van Buren Township Board of Trustees formally has approved a resolution supporting a current study being made by the American Council on Education to extend public education into the first two years of college.

The resolution supports the study because such a change "would be a strong shot in the arm of local colleges, making college available to all."

"Making public education a 14-year program would reduce noticeably the labor force, a problem growing every year, and would help to keep 'out of school and out of work' youthful citizens off the streets," the resolution concluded.

The proposal would cut across income levels and benefit anyone who wanted to attend college. The majority of tuition grants are not available to middle-income families, township officials said.

At women Looking back...

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

In looking back over March and checking what the distaff side of our population was doing a year ago, one of the most outstanding stories was the snow storm which blanketed the area mid-way through the month. And since storms are traditionally referred to with a feminine connotation, we thought it'd be remiss if we left "her" out.

Belleville's Deputy Clerk Jean Baumdraher made the front page and pictorially reminded residents of the upcoming special election which would determine financing for the city's newest street paving and sewer improvement program.

And out at another administrative building — the Van Buren Township Hall — Carole Merritt (building department secretary) was shown with the brand new hall directory which helps guide taxpayers around the building.

SUBURBAN LIVING pages featured a photo of two cute Girl Scouts, Andra Whittico and Susan Kohr, who were chosen to model the official scout uniform. Andra appeared in the brand new updated version while Susan showed the outmoded dress, circa 1941. The girls represented Troop No. 362 sponsored by the Edgemont School PTO.

Out at South Junior High School, Sue Ackron and Michelle Phelps were snapped while looking over the selection of reading material being readied for the annual book fair.

Announcements from Michigan colleges told of the straight A's Belleville's Connie Foster had amassed at Central Michigan University and the 3.5 average Cynthia Melcher of Romulus had maintained at Henry Ford Community College.

VESCOIO'S AD highlighted five pounds of sugar for 49 cents and a pound of bacon for 79 if you care to indulge in a bit of "remember when-ing."

Jeri W. Smith of Michigan Condominium Corporation at Belle Villa was among the five new Chamber of Commerce members and Susan Price of Romulus had been given the nod by Michigan's Governor Milliken. Visual co-ordinator for Wayne-Westland School District, Ms Price had been appointed to the State to the State Council for the Arts.

Page one of the Romulus Roman featured three pretty ballerinas. Ballet student Andrea Windels was captured doing an arabesque during Romulus Recreation Department's Mother-Daughter Ballet Show at the City Hall. Elaine Coffman and Kathy Laginess were also pictured.

The Romulus Public Library was the setting for an art display featuring the works of local artist, Charles Haubrich. Shown viewing one of his sculptures were Diane Hazen, Romulus librarian, and Leanna Shaberly, librarian at the P.D. Graham Elementary School.

ONE WEEK LATER the Belleville front page showed a cute little brunette in a series of three pictures. Two-year old Bridgett Cicotte, daughter of the Al Cicottes of Belleville, was caught by our photographer showing her antics during half-time at a Belleville High basketball game.

In a picture taken at Belleville High, Angela Haliburda and Robin Rider were shown with their biology teacher, Richard Dokas, who was explaining the new program which helped make them more aware of environmental problems by means of a computer.

The Van Buren clerk had moved to new and larger quarters in the township hall and Deputy Clerk Stephanie Soja was on hand to show our lens man the new facilities.

A quintet of future marriages made the society section along with the story of the Horace Barret's golden wedding party. Four couples were also in print; their picture having been taken at the Valentine Dance at St. Anthony's Parish.

CATHY PETRASKY, daughter of the John Petraskys of Belleville, was among the 50 sons and daughters of Marathon Oil Company employees to be honored as 1973 Marathon scholars for outstanding academic achievement.

Area Girl Scouts were celebrating Girl Scout Week with a variety of activities and the Romulus Jaycees were announcing Jaycee Jelly Week by having Miss Jelly Week, Jo Lynn Goboly, and project chairman, Mike Pawelak, promote the sale.

THE MARCH 21 issue literally "blew in" with the big snow and taking advantage of what they figured would be the last of the white stuff for '73 were Vicki Wyzkowski and Ray Ebersberger. The two 16-year olds were almost upstaged by the huge snowman they'd constructed over the week-end but all three managed to make page one of the Romulus Roman.

Another cheerful photo was that of the Romulus High cheerleaders whose smiles added a bit of color to the front page. And good reason, too, since their team piled up an 81-56 victory over John Glenn in the first round of the Belleville Class A Regional Tournament.

Mrs. Carleton K. Rush of Romulus (already a busy gal being director of United Community Services and chairman of the United Fund Torch Drive) received another appointment. She was named to the budget committee of United Way of Michigan.

The Methodist Church Ladies of New Boston were the honored guests at the New Boston Rotary's weekly dinner. Mrs. Arabell Longan, chairman of the group, was shown accepting accolades on their behalf from the club president Luke Wegienka for having prepared the club's meals for the past 30 years.

SALLY WALK was the lone bride for the week, her marriage to William Stambaugh reported in the Suburban Living section along with the engagement of five area couples.

A picture of Paula Parkinson, daughter of the Joseph Cucchiaras of Romulus, appeared on the inside pages with the news that she'd be clarinet soloist when the EMU Civic Symphony Orchestra performed "Concerto for Clarinet and String Orchestra."

Two Belleville student musicians were selected to participate in the Youth for Understanding Choral: Kathy Chen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Allen Chen, and Cheryl Knight, daughter of the Roy Knights.

And smoked ham was on the menu at many a home that week since that particular cut of pork was a mere 69 cents per pound at Vescio's. Or else it was the aroma of chuck roast permeating the kitchen since it, too, was a bargain at 88 cents.

CEREMONIES FOR burning the mortgage of the First United Methodist Church of Belleville were announced visually with Gladys Mast, co-chairman of the finance committee, gracing the front page of the Belleville Enterprise with Rev. Charles Dibley.

Sharing page one was the cast of "Wizard's Tree" snapped during dress rehearsal at Edgemont School. Starring in the Drama Club's presentation were Valerie Sierota as the rabbit, John Losen, wizard; and Martha Ryznar, witch.

Mrs. T.F. Hooten provided the feminine touch in the picture with "the" Colonel Sanders, her husband Ted, and son, T.E. Hooten. The local business people were among those honored for KFC services at the worldwide convention of KFC franchises at Miami Beach. CHAMBER OF Commerce membership had gained seven additional newcomers, the distaff side represented by Mrs. Chum Stockwell, Mrs. Lynn Wormhoudt and Mrs. Robert Goike (pictured with their respective hubbies.)

Ha! to close on a sad note but food buys last March at Foodville included large eggs for 53 cents a dozen, oranges at a mere 59 cents; and five-pound canned hams for $5.49.

Still more next month!

TOP 'O THE MORNIN' — No, those aren't shillelachs that Margaret Jahner (left) and Agnes Cook (right) are wielding. They're just those good old stand-bys that are necessary for any well-equipped kitchen. Promoting St. Anthony's annual St. Patrick's Day Smorgasbord, the ticket chairman and Altar Society president, respectively, were joined early last Friday morning by the general chairman of the event, Lucille Remus (center). The dinner will be served Sunday, March 17, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the school cafeteria adjacent to the church on W. Columbia Avenue. The community is cordially invited to attend.

St. Patrick's Day smorgasbord set by Altar Society

St. Patrick's Day is just around the corner. And for St. Anthony's Altar Society, that means annual smorgasbord.

Parent-Mull engagement is announced

Patricia M. Parent and Edward L. Mull both employees of Meijer's Thrifty Acres in Ypsilanti, are engaged and making plans for a spring wedding.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin L. Mull of 8205 Stoneham Dr., Ypsilanti.

Miss Parent was graduated from Belleville High School in 1970 and her fiancé from Lincoln High in 1967. The couple have chosen an April 20 wedding date.

This year the group is lighting a few extra candles in hopes a late season snow storm doesn't strike as it did a year ago.

Lucille Remus is taking on the duties of general chairman, with Elsie Ostrowski in charge of the dining room, and Margaret Jahner and Sophie Loyer handling tickets.

The dinner will be held from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. March 17 in the school cafeteria adjacent to the church on W. Columbia Avenue.

As in the past, the ladies of the parish will be making their favorite dishes and with the variety of ethnic groups involved, there should be an international flavor to the meal.

Adult tickets are $3.; children six to 12, $1.50, and those five and under, 50 cents. Door prizes will be awarded throughout the day as an added attraction.

The community is invited to attend.

Garden Club hears report on birds

The Van Buren Garden Club held its first meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Henry Deering of Belleville with Mrs. Edward Kapelanski presiding. Forthcoming projects were discussed; particularly the beautification of the Belleville Library during the time of its May conferences. Girl Scout Troop 468 has offered to help in order to gain credit towards community badges.

The program was presented by Velma Kulzar, Ellen Gould, Mrs. T. Posthumus, and Mrs. Virgil Lockrow who spoke on the part that birds play in the balance of nature. The first speaker, Mrs. Posthumus, told facets of the goldfinch, how the male changes its color in the fall from gold to an olive, and how their nests aren't built until late July or August since many of the seeds used in nest building don't burst into fluffiness until that time.

The bird paintings of Louis Agassiz Fuertes were described by Mrs. Virgil Lockrow. Fuertes was named after a great Swiss naturalist, Louis Agassiz, and became a student of Audubon, but devised his own methods of painting. He is thought to be as great a painter of birds as Audubon, a club spokesman said.

Slim and trim

Today's pork is not the "fatty" type of meat it once was. That's because during the past 15 years, producers have dramatically increased the lean-to-fat ratio of hogs through scientific breeding and feeding practices. Lard yield has been cut almost in half—from 14.6 pounds per hundred liveweight in 1957 to 7.6 pounds in 1972.

Also, the nutritional value of pork is more accurately presented in the newer charts which provide exact data for specific cuts and portions as they are cooked and served today.

A PAPER ON the purple martins was presented by Ellen Gould. These graceful, migratory birds, are peculiar to America, winter in Brazil, while one species nests within the Arctic circle.

They have an uncanny ability to return to their former nesting sites, just like the swallows, members of the same family, Miss Gould said.

All their food is obtained on the wing over lakes, deserts and oceans, but not forests. They are great mosquito lovers. To protect their homes, they will attack hawks and crows, but they are friendly to the lesser birds like sparrows and starlings. Thus, unless their homes are taken down yearly, or the windows boarded up until mid-April in this area, the sparrows will take over their houses. Their homes should be near open fields, near a pond preferably, on poles from 15- to 30-feet high, and painted white to deflect the sun's hot rays.

Some of the history of Jack Miner, the founder of Jack Miner's Bird Sanctuary in Kingsville, Ontario, was given by Velma Kulzar. An Ohioan by birth in 1865, Miner moved to Kingsville when he was nine years old. Trapping in the rich, natural area when he was a boy led him into becoming a hunting guide as a teenager. His great knowledge of wood lore enabled him to find many lost hunters.

Wishing to conserve for a continuous hunting season, he built a pond to attract birds. He first banded birds in 1909. From 1910 to 1940, he was a well-known lecturer: his witticisms became known as 'Minerisms'. After his death in 1944, his family continued his work; his sanctuary being visited by thousands yearly. In another month, it will be time for another visit there.

Cold souffle is a light finale

Think of something light and refreshing - such as a pitcher of ice cold Orange Flavor Tang Instant Breakfast Drink. This great drink carries its same qualities through to a light and refreshing dessert-Cold Souffle.

It's a velvety dessert with the piquant tang of citrus that makes it just the right ending to a robust dinner. Unlike its hot, baked counterpart, Cold Souffle is completely devoid of temperment. It waits unobtrusively in the refrigerator until called; it demands no great skill from the chef; and it requires no between-course absence of the hostess from the guest.

The same Orange Flavor Tang Instant Breakfast Drink that gives the souffle its delightful flavor adds a surprisingly gourmet touch to dishes of all sorts.

Cold Souffle

$\frac{3}{4}$ cup sugar
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups cold water
4 egg yolks, slightly beaten
one-third cup orange flavored instant breakfast drink
4 egg whites
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar
1 container ($4\frac{1}{2}$ oz.) frozen whipped topping, thawed

(Or use 2 cups prepared whipped topping, or 1 cup heavy cream, whipped.)

Combine $\frac{3}{4}$ cup sugar, the gelatin, and salt in saucepan. Stir in water. Heat until mixture begins to boil. Pour small amount of hot mixture into egg yolks, stirring constantly; return to remaining hot mixture in saucepan. Cook and stir over low heat until mixture coats metal spoon - about 2 to 3 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in instant breakfast drink. Chill until thickened. Beat egg whites until foamy throughout. Add $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar gradually and continue beating until mixture will form stiff peaks. Fold into gelatin mixture; fold in whipped topping. Pour into a $1\frac{1}{2}$ -quart souffle dish that has been fitted with a paper collar, or into a large serving bowl. Chill until firm - about 5 to 6 hours or overnight. Garnish with toasted coconut, if desired. Makes 7 cups or 14 servings.

LUCIOUS, LIGHT FINALE — After a robust meal, something on the lighter side is in order and what could be nicer than a cold souffle? A velvety light dessert made with Orange Flavor Tang Instant Breakfast Drink, its piquant flavor makes it the refreshing ending to a hearty dinner menu.

Parents: do some listening

The parent-child relationship is most influential and forms the basis for other human relationships in our society.

"Since the parent-child relationship is so important, parents and children must learn to meet their own needs and realize their own potential as well as help the other person to do likewise," says Dr. Eleanor Morrison, instructor in family and child sciences at Michigan State University.

Parents can help open the channels of communication with their children by active listening. This type of listening goes further than hearing just the words — you must understand the feelings behind the words.

"Once a parent learns to hear these feelings," Dr. Morrison explains, "verbal communication may become more effective in helping children overcome difficulties and taking responsibility for meeting their own needs."

THE NEXT time children come to you with a problem or complaint, let them express themselves, recognize and try to understand the feelings behind the words — avoid advising, criticizing, moralizing or giving solutions. The ultimate aim is to help your child solve problems

Fallacies corrected

Fact versus fiction on meat nutrition

Here's a summary of frequently-seen incorrect statements about meat along with the correct facts, as provided by food-nutrition scientists:

Incorrect: "One reason steaks, oven roasts and chops cost more is because they're more nutritious."

Fact: Cheaper cuts of meat are just as healthful and nutritious as the best prime or choice steak and, when properly prepared, can be very appetizing as well as tender. The price of meat — the difference between filet mignon and chopped beef — is determined primarily by consumer preference (demand) and the amount available (supply). A beef carcass provides many more pounds of chopped beef and pot roasts than filet mignons and standing rib roasts.

Incorrect: "The only important nutritional contribution of meat is protein — which can also be obtained from plant and vegetable foods."

Fact: The protein in meat is complete, high quality protein containing all the essential amino acids. Plant and vegetable proteins do not contain all the essential amino acids so they are incomplete and of lower biological quality. Further, meat protein is more readily assimilated into the human body since it is from an animal source. In addition to protein, meat provides all the B-vitamins — not just those usually added in fortification of foods — iron, other minerals, trace elements and micronutrients not readily available from other sources.

Incorrect: "For top quality meat, select the leanest cuts."

Fact: The better eating quality meat can be recognized by the marbling — flecks of fat in the lean portions. If meat had no fat at all, it wouldn't taste as good or have as pleasing a texture. Today's cuts do have more lean meat in proportion to fat and bone because packers and retailers are trimming the outside fat closer and cattle, hogs and sheep are bred and fed to produce less fat.

Incorrect:

It's a boy for Kalaszs

Former Belleville residents, Michael and Betty Kalasz of 30955 John Hawk, Garden City, are announcing the birth of their first child. The boy, named Kevin Samuel, arrived Feb. 17 at Providence Hospital in Detroit, and weighed 6 lbs., 13 $\frac{1}{2}$ oz.

Mrs. Kalasz was formerly employed at National Bank of Detroit's Belleville Branch.

Residents end Florida sojourns

By Pearl Morris
941-1187

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Van Aernum are back home on Romulus Avenue after an extended vacation and visit at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Szabo, in Cape Coral, Florida. The VanAernums made the trip by plane. The Julius Szabos resided on Romulus Avenue before moving to Florida during the past year.

While in Florida the VanAernums attended military funeral services for her nephew, Lt. Col. Karl Broesamle in Miami, along with the Julius Szabos and Keith VanAernum of Port Washington, Wisconsin, who was visiting in Florida with his wife at the time. Broesamle's body was later flown to St. Thomas, Ontario, Canada, where Mr. and Mrs. Bill Krueger Jr. of Romulus and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald VanAernum of Plymouth were among relatives attending final rites.

MRS. HENRY Kolehmainen

of Eureka Road has returned home after a 10-day vacation in Deland, Florida, where she visited her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kolehmainen, Jr. and attended the wedding of her grandson, Michael Kolehmainen, on February 15. Mrs. Kolehmainen flew down and had the thrill of her first plane ride.

LAST SUNDAY afternoon Mrs. Marie Warner of Lincoln Park entertained at a birthday dinner in honor of her son, Lynn, and daughter, Janice. In attendance were the honorees and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Varner and Darius of Haggerty Road, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Denham and family of Toledo, Ohio; also Miss Pearl Morris of Romulus and Mr. Stanley Ramey of Detroit, uncle of the honor guests.

CAROL MORRIS of Huron River Drive South was in Washington D.C. Thursday and Friday of the past week on educational matters for the Wayne County Intermediate School Board.

Faust honors ex-aide

A resolution honoring the late Mrs. Lorena G. Burton, a Romulus school administrator, has been introduced by Senator William Faust (D-Westland).

"The people of Romulus and Michigan owe a great debt to Mrs. Burton, for she devoted her life to the education of our children as a teacher and as an administrator in the Romulus School System," Faust said.

Mrs. Burton, 58, director of federal and state programs for Romulus schools, died last week in Henry Ford Hospital.

One of the first black students in the Romulus public schools, Mrs. Burton became the first black public school teacher in Romulus after graduating from college in Hampton, Va., and receiving a master's degree in education from the University of Michigan.

She later became the first black principal in the system, heading Beverly Elementary School, before being named director of federal and state programs.

During her career in the Romulus school system, Mrs. Burton also served as director of the Head Start program.

She spent almost her entire career in the district, leaving the system only for a two-year leave of absence in 1967 to work for the Office of Economic Opportunity in Wayne County.

Funding to assist planning

Proposals, designed to combat juvenile delinquency, now are being accepted for possible funding by the Wayne County Juvenile Facility Network (JFN).

Applications will be accepted from youth service agencies in Wayne County and organizations and groups involved in programs of prevention and control of delinquency, said JFN Director Daniel P. Gillespie.

Deadline for applications is 5 p.m. March 15.

Proposals, which are approved, will be funded in the next federal fiscal year beginning July 1.

Information and applications may be obtained from the Juvenile Facility Network, Suite 1110, Lafayette Building, Detroit, Michigan 48226, phone 224-6785.

During the current year, the JFN awarded contracts, totaling $2.5 million, for 26 programs.

She does internship in Detroit

A junior at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, Kathleen Hood, has been accepted as a member of the Detroit Memorial Hospital's School of Medical Technology, class of 1974.

Miss Hood is the daughter of Mrs. Dodie Kimberlin of Romulus. The internship starts on July 1 and lasts for 12 months.

This program is preparation for the state examination, which is required to become a certified medical technologist by the American Society of Clinical Pathologists.

She will graduate from Western Michigan University in June, 1975.

Romulus man gets his degree

A Romulus student has graduated with honors from the University of South Dakota, Vermillion, S.D.

Robert Evan Ripple was among 150 students to receive degrees from the university at the close of the first semester of the school. He majored in recreation while at the college.

Huron to get drains

The Huron Township Board of Trustees has approved a $1.6 million contract with Wayne County for the proposed 1974 sanitary sewer extension project in the township.

The contract with the Department of Public Works calls for construction to begin in either July or August. The extension project will add 30 to 40-thousand feet of sewer pipe in the township, according to Huron Township Engineer Jerry Jarrett.

The contract, however, deleted the sparsely-populated Judd Road area from the project or 1,150 feet of sewer pipe, Jarrett said.

The board also approved the purchase of a patrol car for the township, bringing to two the number of operating police cars on the force. The township has another patrol car for sale.

The newest vehicle was purchased for $2,800 from Vienna Township.

Two new part-time police officers were appointed to Huron's police force. They are auxiliary officers Carl Monarch and Leonard Fater, both of New Boston.

The board also adopted a pair of resolutions, the first opposing the system of post-card registration (registration by mail) of voters, and the second opposing the proposed system of allowing voters to register at any Secretary of State's office.

New bill to stop oil hikes

Legislation, which would give the Michigan Public Service Commission the authority to regulate the price and supply of home heating oil and bottled gas, has been introduced in the House of Representatives.

"The lack of controls over these products has resulted in a price rise of more than 100 per cent," State Rep. Gary Owen said. "It is unreasonable to believe that costs of producing fuel oil and bottled gas have doubled in the past few months."

"I believe we must have control over this public utility to insure the consumer and the oil industry a fair price."

The bill is vitally necessary at a time when the country is faced with a growing fuel shortage, according to Owen, a democrat representing Van Buren Township. He said that some form of regulatory agency is needed to oversee the industry to be sure that fuel oil and bottled gas are available without gouging the consumer.

Medicare opens program

People who haven't signed up for Medicare insurance or who have canceled the protection once can enroll in the program now through April 1 at any social security office.

The medical insurance portion of Medicare is offered automatically to people who reach the age of 65 and are eligible for social security payments.

It also is available to disabled workers under the age of 65 who have been entitled to monthly social security benefits for 24 or more consecutive months.

Enrollment for the insurance program is open for the first three months of each year. It helps to pay doctor bills and other medical expenses as the voluntary portion of Medicare.

2 students are degree candidates

Two residents of Belleville and Romulus are among 114 degree candidates at Grand Valley State College in Allendale.

Patricia Green of 60081 Sumpter, Belleville, is a candidate for a bachelor of science degree in psychology at the conclusion of the winter term at the college.

She is a student in the College of Arts and Sciences with a social studies group emphasis major.

James Bird of 12625 Hannan, Romulus, also is a degree candidate at the school. Up for consideration for a bachelor of science degree, he also is majoring in psychology with a social studies group emphasis.

WARM TONES — It's a mixture of warm tones and mixed grain patterns of a one-by-six-inch cedar tongue-and-groove paneling to brighten a bathroom sauna. Boards are blind nailed and brushed with a light coat of sealer for a natural finish. Fir trim surrounds the diagonally paneled sauna door and theouvered wood doors on lower cabinet to complete the effect.

Paneling collection recreates wood textures of bygone year

Four distinctive and uniquely different interior wall panels, each representing a wall treatment of a period in the history of four different nations, have been introduced by Masonite Corporation.

The new historic collection of hardboard panels includes reproductions of handcrafted wall treatments found in the residences of France, England, Spain and colonial America from 150 to 300 years ago.

The panels are intended to satisfy the sophisticated tastes of today's design-conscious home owners and to accommodate the talents of the growing army of do-it-yourselfers.

The four panels in the historic collection include: —PROVENCE, which recreates the walls of a handsome French provincial residence, faithful in reproduction even to the point of duplicating the original brush marks of the 18th century artisan.

—Briarcliff, a replica of the handcrafted inlaid panels that once graced stately British manor houses.

—Presidio, blending the rugged good looks and formal elegance of Mediterranean styling in a dark, deep-textured paneling that is the mark of Old Spain.

—Deerfield, characteristic of America's early history, a sensitive replica of aged planks with a deep-embossed decorative motif.

THE NEW 4 by 8 hardboard panels, reproduced by an exclusive texturing and finishing process, feature a tough, durable finish that will not fade or discolor and is easy to clean. They are easily applied either by nailing or adhesive.

Created especially for the Historic panels is a series of prefinished wood moldings in four different profiles.

Hints ease chore of paneling home

Planning to panel a room? It really isn't a difficult job if you follow a few simple rules as set forth by a leading manufacturer of hardboard paneling.

First, provide yourself with the correct tools — tape measure, saw (electric or handsaw), hammer, caulking gun (if you're planning to mount the panels with adhesive), square, level, and shims.

THE COMPANY recommends the adhesive method of installing paneling, following this procedure.

Stand panels separately around room at least 48 hours prior to installation to acclimate them to room conditions.

Remove moldings, lightly sand enameled walls, seal gypsum board or previously wallpapered walls. Surface must be clean.

Snap chalkline from floor to ceiling at 4-foot intervals along wall.

APPLY continuous ribbon of adhesive approximately 1/2 inch inside chalkline and around entire perimeter of area.

Horizontally, at 16-inch intervals down the wall, apply 3-inch horizontal strips of adhesive, 6 inches apart.

To assure 1/4 inch clearance at top and bottom of panel, rest panel on shims. Use level to plumb panel before gluing.

Nail lightly at top edge to hold position and press panel over adhesive. After 15 minutes, press panel again along points of contact to assure adherence.

Always be sure panels are cut and fitted before applying adhesive.

Wood adds cheery look

Warm rustic tones enrich every home

An open plan house builds its own special mood, whether it's on the coast, in the mountains, or on a city lot, gaining warmth and a rustic strength from wood-clad walls and ceiling decking over solid wood beams.

Such a home built overlooking the Pacific Ocean on the northern California coast offers a relaxing alternate lifestyle for a city-dwelling doctor and his family.

The open formal living room of the house is dominated by a free-standing fireplace with a white hood tapering slightly as it reaches to the high ceiling. A square, elevated hearth around the fireplace provides extra seating.

THE FLOOR and ceiling are of 2-by-8-inch tongue-and-groove Douglas fir planks. The natural color and texture of the wood brightens the room while the excellent insulating properties of the planks help keep the house snug and warm.

Heavy post and beam construction, using 6-by-6-inch posts, and 6 by 10 or 4 by 10 beams, and 4 by 8 rafters over the ceiling decking, all of rough Douglas fir, allows the open spans and adds to the strong character of the house.

Accenting the high walls and the pitched ceiling, 1-by-6-inch resawn white fir board paneling applied vertically also offers a pleasant mood and a subtle background for large unframed paintings.

The dining area adjacent to the living room is highlighted by a custom chandelier suspended on two chains from the ceiling. The fixture was designed and built by the architect from a cast iron pulley salvaged at an old sawmill, with standard industrial fixtures attached.

THE HEAVY posts and beams support a bedroom loft above the kitchen, with an open area overlooking the living-dining room. A swing-down door encloses the bedroom when privacy is desired.

A separate structure, youngsters in the family and smaller but similar in design, can be used as a guest house when the children are grown.

State school board conducts education accountability meet

A series of 13 public hearings on educational accountability in Michigan will be held throughout the state during this and next month.

The hearings will be conducted by a 25-member Educational Accountability Panel appointed by the State Board of Education and State Superintendent of Public Instruction John W. Porter.

Gov. William G. Milliken asked Porter to conduct a statewide study of the meaning, purpose and methods of educational accountability.

Three of the 13 public hearings, including the first one on March 13 and the last hearing on April 4, will be held in Detroit. The other 10 hearings will be held at Kalamazoo on March 14; Mt. Clemens, March 19; Pontiac, March 20; Ann Arbor, March 21; Saginaw, March 26; Lansing, March 27; Grand Rapids, March 28; Sault Ste. Marie, April 1; Marquette, April 2; and Gaylord, April 3. Most of the hearings will be held in the evening although one hearing, in Detroit on March 16, will be held in the

Belleville man's poem explores the afterlife

Looking to the future is what many people do on a daily basis. A Belleville resident, William H. Carr, has written a poem, "Just Around The Bend," taking a peek at the future through a married person's eyes.

'Just Around The Bend'

If there should be an after-life
As scriptures say there be,
We'll never have a need to part
Through all eternity;
And if I go before you do
Feel sure, that in a while
I'll patiently be waiting dear;
And greet you with a smile.
This life is the beginning,
For us there is no end,
Eternal bliss awaits us
"Just around the bend".

'Number' sponsors art show

The Number, Belleville's crisis-counseling center, will sponsor an arts and crafts fair from noon to 6 p.m. on May 19.

The fair will be held on Roys Street in downtown Belleville, or at Belleville High School in case of rain.

The price per 6 by 4-foot booth will be $5, payable by May 1. For more information, interested artists should contact Carol LoPresto at 697-4546 during the day, or write The Number, P.O. Box 9, Belleville, 48111.

Austin expects lines for 1974 license tabs

More than two million Michigan car owners will be crowding into long lines for the final push in the 1974 license plate tab sale after March 15.

"It looks like the longest lines in our history," said Secretary of State Richard H. Austin when he described the expected chaotic situation all over Michigan during the crest of the rush period in late March.

Deadline for obtaining plates is April 1.

"THIS TAB sales campaign has been next to impossible to figure out because of the uncertainties of the gas shortage and statewide economic problems," Austin added. "It's a unique experience and nobody can predict the outcome."

Friday totals were running nearly 275,000 behind 1973 sales. A spurt was recorded just before the deadline on Feb. 28 for licensing commercial vehicles such as trucks and trailers.

"My only advice for those who still have not obtained tabs for 1974, is don't wait, get your tabs today, before the final two weeks in March, which promise to be a donnybrook at most license plate tab sales outlets," Austin said. "MANY PERSONS have been furloughed from their jobs, especially in the critical auto industry," Austin said. "Other vehicle owners, rationing is imposed or because of the gas situation, whether Michigan will suffer are waiting to see if gas serious gasoline shortages."

What's a checking account without a service charge?

It's a pretty good checking account.
And that's what we've got.
We call it our 200/500 Checking Plan.
Just maintain a $200 minimum monthly balance in your account, and there won't be a service charge.
And, even if your balance goes below $200, there still won't be a service charge as long as your account averages $500 during your monthly statement period.
There isn't a charge for your itemized monthly statement, either.
Our 200/500 Checking Plan.

It's a year-round effort

Parish maintains school

It takes a year-round effort but parishioners at St. Aloysius Church have been able to keep open one of the few still functioning parochial schools in the Romulus area.

Armed with funds collected from an annual festival, bake sales, paper drives and similar programs, the church has been able to maintain the school while many Catholic schools throughout the Archdiocese of Detroit are being closed down because of the financial burden.

Beginning more than a year in advance of the actual festival, parishioners start to plan and organize the largest of their money-making activities.

USUALLY held during the Labor Day weekend, the festival finds itself in competition with festivals from the Michigan State Fair to the Peach Fair in Oscoda when it comes to collecting the necessary elements for a successful venture.

A small committee handles the problems of procuring rides, games and other attractions that will make or break a fair, a church spokesman said.

Attracting people is another problem the church faces. But the people problem is overcome with dinners on two days of the festival, the spokesman added.

Joining in with fair fund raising activities for the school is the Parent-Teachers Guild (PTG), which sponsors monthly bake sales, paper drives and any other potluck scheme to make money.

ON THE third Sunday of each month, they attract residents to the church basement with the mingling of homemade pies, bread, fudge, brownies and parental specialties for the bake sale.

The paper drives represent a three-week headache for the PTG, but also are money-making propositions that can dump as much as $240 into the school's coffers at one time, the spokesman said.

School children man the collection portion of the drive, gathering newspapers to transport to the school, where they are sorted and weighed before being loaded into a waiting truck.

To augment the two groups' activities, the church sponsors weekly bingo games, sometimes called the "Catholic gambling syndrome."

THREE small groups handle the chores with the members alternating between participating and calling numbers. It continues to attract bingo enthusiasts week after week, the spokesman added.

The efforts are aimed at keeping open the eight-room school, built by the students' grandparents years ago to provide their children with the quiet educational surroundings of a private school.

The school has survived much of the aurora of operating in the red that has closed many parochial schools, the spokesman said. Tuition fees cost $200 per family per year for parishioners and $300 for non-parishioners.

Transportation to the school is provided through the Romulus Community Schools with classes beginning at 8:15 a.m. and ending at 2 p.m.

With its survival dependent on the efforts of the parishioners, St. Aloysius School will continue to educate both Catholic and non-Catholic youngsters in Romulus as long as it can, the church spokesman concluded.

The Library Mothers Committee organized the school's library, giving it a new look this year and providing it with a number of improvements in the quantity and quality of library books.

Jaycees to honor Romulus woman

The date of March 19 has been set aside for the Romulus Jaycee Auxiliary to honor Romulus' women with their yearly "Outstanding Woman" award.

Applications for the award, given to the woman who best demonstrates the ideals of community betterment and exemplary womanhood in Romulus, will be accepted through March 7.

The award will be given at a special ceremony scheduled for March 19 at the Romulus City Hall.

At the same time, the Virginia Carmichael Award, in memory of the long-time community worker who died last November, also will be presented.

Any organization, church or civic group can nominate a worker for the award by filling out the accompanying form and mailing it to Mrs. Joe Wiater, P.O. Box 35, Romulus, Mich., 48174. Information on the award can be obtained by calling Mrs. Wiater at 941-5832.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

HAROLD REDISKE, HAROLD REDISKE, JR. — DIRECTORS

NSM

A wit once wise-cracked, "Nothing is opened more by mistake than the mouth." It was meant in jest but it also has a serious meaning. For instance, can anyone honestly say he has never said the wrong thing at the wrong time? Hardly. When a faux-pas like that happens, one regrets it. An unthinking slip of the tongue can happen to anyone. It is understandable. However, an outright lie — especially an untrue or unconfirmed rumor spoken behind the back of some one — is not a slip of the tongue. Instead, the tongue takes a slippery slide that debases a human mind.

Because malicious gossip can malign, tragically taint or ruin a person's reputation, the act is inexcusable. The offended person must really stretch religious instincts of compassion, forgiveness and understanding of a non-understandable offense. The victim must show considerable courage to believe the sureness of right will prevail. It takes even more courage to adhere to Ecclesiastes 7:9 — "Be not quick to anger, for anger lodges in the bosom of fools."

Lighting fund adds donations

Response has been "overwhelming" in the Romulus Sports Fund Development Committee's "Project Light the Way" drive.
Committee chairman Mel Morgan said civic concern for the project has been gratifying.

"Everyone seems concerned," he said. "In fact, shortly after The Romulus Roman wrote an editorial, urging citizens to participate, we received checks from three businesses in the community, which hadn't been approached for a donation yet."

Morgan said the checks totaled $100 from the three businesses and will go into the fund set up to purchase lighting for the softball field at the Elmer Johnson Park and for the Romulus High School football field.

'Royalty' is back in class

It's back to routine classroom activities for students at Belleville's South Junior High School, who were chosen to reign at this year's Valentine Dance.

The dance was sponsored by the student council, and approximately 428 tickets were sold.

Brian Brinkerhoff and Mary Gaffney reigned as "King and Queen." Chosen as prince and princess of their respective grades were Pat Van Buren and Deliana Thompson, ninth graders; Larry Pingston and Bev Reed, eighth graders; and Jeff Rose and Belinda Stafford, seventh graders.

This year's dance chairman was Cindy Hudge, the student council's public relations director.

Staff members and their spouses served as chaperones for the dance.

Meeting to review land use

Van Buren Township Community Development Committee Director Ben R. Robertson will be among those attending a conference on community growth and development in Fort Wayne, Ind., March 17-19.

The successful community developer, industrial park development and the energy situation in relation to development will be among the major topics discussed at the annual Great Lakes States Area Development Council.

Other matters to be discussed will be land use and the area developer, contractors and the finance industry in relation to the community developer.

Van Buren Township is awaiting construction of its first planned industrial park in the southwest section of the township.

Sessions to cover tax rolls

The annual sessions of the City of Belleville's Board of Review will be held on March 5 and 12 at the Belleville City Hall, 6 Main St.

The board of review will meet from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p.m.

The annual meetings are conducted for the purpose of reviewing the city's property tax assessment rolls and to hear objections from taxpayers.

Township has growing pains

Van Buren Township has charted a 36 per cent increase in its 1973 population when compared with 1970 census figures, according to a recent issue of the 1970-73 Population and Occupied Dwelling Unit report.

The report, issued by the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG), contains estimates of the occupied dwelling units and population.

The report showed that the City of Belleville had an estimated population increase of more than 44 per cent.

BOTH communities, according to the report, showed increases in the number of occupied dwelling units of more than 46 and 73 per cent respectively.

In Van Buren Township, the population estimate was 18,000. The 1970 census figures set the count at an increase of 36.2 per cent or 4,838 persons. The township's occupied dwelling units totaled 5,250 as compared to 3,590 in 1970. The new figure is an increase of 1,660 occupied dwelling units or 46.2 per cent.

The population of Belleville as reflected in the SEMCOG's report was 3,480, an increase of 1,074 over the 1970 total of 2,406 or 44.6 per cent higher than the U.S. Census Bureau's tabulation.

THE NUMBER of occupied dwelling units in the city was set at 1,440 units. It was 830 in the 1970 report or an increase of 73.5 per cent.

The number of persons per occupied dwelling unit in the city dropped to 2.41 persons in 1973 from 2.90 persons in 1970.

In Van Buren Township the number of persons per occupied dwelling unit dipped to 3.42 persons. There were 3.67 persons per unit in 1970. Van Buren Township Trustee Stephen Kuchta, who also is a member of the township planning commission, said the report is under study and may become a major guideline in the future development in the township.

Local parties highlight weekend entertainment

With the gasoline shortage easing up a bit, residents in Western Wayne County will find that the best entertainment still falls within the low fuel consumption range.

The annual March of Dimes Dance, sponsored by the Romulus Jaycees, will feature WXYZ radio personality Jim Davis and Detroit Lions superstar Charlie Sanders as guests Saturday evening.

The dance, which raises funds for the fight against birth defects, will begin at 8 p.m. in the Romulus Progressive Hall.

TICKETS cost $8 per couple and $4 for individuals.

A special feature at the dance will be the Jaycees' auction, which sells sports equipment belonging to local sports teams including the Detroit Lions, Tigers and Pistons.

For information on the benefit dance call project chairman Lou Warden at 699-7512 or co-chairman Gordon Silvey at 941-2488.

The fourth annual "Get Together with Senator Palwicki" also is set for this weekend at UAW Local 157, 29841 Van Born Rd.

THE PARTY begins at 6:30 p.m. Saturday with cocktails, dancing and dinner at 7:30 p.m. Ticket information is available through Harry Koss at 421-3745 or Kay Beard at 562-4850.

The annual "Sports Cars in Review" once again is filling the calendar of events at Greenfield Village. Displayed among the streets of early America in Henry Ford Museum, this year's show features 65 cars from six countries, covering 70 years of sports car history.

New on the movie scene is the Mike Rydell production of "Cinderella Liberty." A young

Black artists to talk

"New Directions in Black Theatre," a four-part lecture and discussion series by outstanding Black American theater artists, will be held at Wayne State University (WSU).

It will open with Phillip Hayes Dean, stage and television writer and Broadway actor, speaking at 2:30 p.m. Monday in the Studio Theatre, downstairs at the Hilberry Theatre, Cass and Hancock.

The line-up also includes Ed Bullins, a playwright; Lloyd Richards, professional stage and television director and artistic director of the Eugene O'Neill Memorial Theatre Center, and a panel consisting of Reuben Silver, director of Cleveland's Karamu Theatre, George Bass, director of Brown University's Rights and Reason Theatre, and Owen Dodson, prize-winning poet-dramatist, director and teacher.

Martin Molson, WSU Black Theatre director, will act as chairman and moderator. Molson, who joined the Wayne faculty in September, 1972, is a former member of the Hilberry Repertory Company and has acted professionally with the Trinity Square Repertory Company in Providence, R.I., and the Loretto-Hilton Repertory Company in St. Louis, Mo.

The schedule of lectures will be April 29 - "Symposium: Reuben Silver, George Bass and Owen Dodson," May 25 - Ed Bullins; June 7 - Lloyd Richards. There is no admission charge.

The opening lecturer, Phillip Hayes Dean, made two visits to Wayne State's Bonstelle Theatre in January, when the University Theatre presented the Detroit premiere of his play, "The Sky of the Blind Pig."

Dean, who hails from Pontiac, acted on Broadway in Samuel Beckett's "Waiting for Godot" and in "The Wisteria Trees." Joshua Logan's American adaptation of Chekhov's "The Cherry Orchard." He is the author of "Johnny Ghost," written for the television series "On Being Black."

Cites man's dilemma

Faust pushes benefits

Day-to-day survival is an uphill struggle for those ineligible for Social Security benefits," says State Sen. William Faust.

Legislation has been introduced by Faust to maintain full workmen's compensation benefits for persons of retirement age who are not eligible for social security benefits.

Under the present system, a disabled worker receiving weekly compensation must comply with the regulation that decreases his benefits by 5 percent annually when he reaches the age of 65, the Westland Democrat said.

"The amount keeps decreasing at the 5 percent annual rate, until benefits are cut to 50 percent of the original amount of benefit," he said, "if the disabled worker isn't eligible for social security benefits to make up the difference, he must face the impossible situation of living on less and less each year, while the cost of living goes up and up."

An example of these circumstances was brought to Faust's attention by one of his constituents in Westland.

Salim Freij, 65, employed by a church in Plymouth Township in 1970, was struck with a heart attack and became disabled. He received workmen's compensation in the amount of $80 per week until he reached 65. Since that time, his weekly benefit has been decreased to the $72 he is receiving now. Freij has worked only 1½ years in this country, and is ineligible for benefits to make up the difference.

"Day-to-day survival is a problem," said Faust.

Van Buren class instructs teachers

Fifteen Van Buren Public School District teachers, assigned to the district's federally funded Chapter Three Program, have completed a basic in-service training program.

The 44-hour program was designed to help teachers plan, conduct and apply the basic strategies in their classrooms.

Basics is a program that trains teachers to help children develop the thinking skills needed for successful participation in school. This training can be applied to any program and emphasize the active role of the skilled teacher in the learning process. It also stresses the critical element of productive interaction between teacher and children and among children.

This is an in-service education program which focuses on developing the skills needed to effectively combine the student's questions with actual learning, according to a school spokesman.

This rapidly growing program is in use in 21 states.

Food services group offers $250 scholarship

The Van Buren Public Schools' Food Service Association is sponsoring a $250 scholarship in the culinary arts to a high school senior this year, according to supervisor of cafeterias, David Baronian.

The scholarship will be given to a worthy high school senior who has been accepted in a food service training program. The length of the program must be a minimum of one year on a full-time basis.

Seniors interested in applying for the scholarship can through the high school guidance office.

The final selection for the scholarship recipient will be made by Baronian and the guidance department.

Both are eagle scouts
Brothers share scout rank

Two Sumpter Township brothers were presented with scouting's highest rank, that of eagle scout, at a special ceremony at Fr. Folta Hall of St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Belleville.

The brothers are Hal, 15, and Mark Innes, 13. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Innes of 42121 Willis Rd.

Hal joined the cub scouts in 1968, where he earned the Tote-N-Chip, Paul Bunyan axman, 50-mile alfoat and historic trials awards. He served as assistant patrol leader and patrol leader for the Buffalo Patrol, troop quartermaster and assistant senior patrol leader.

HAL HAS visited Isle Royale, Canoe Base at Rifle River, Silver Lake Camp and the tour of the east with the troop.

For his eagle service award project, Hal photographed drainage ditches in parts of Sumpter Township. He sent a set of photos to State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak and to the Wayne County Health Department. He included letters with the photos which brought the unsanitary and clogged conditions of the township to their attention.

Besides scouting, Hal is active in the concert band at Belleville High School. He was a member of the Model Rocket Club at the South Junior High School in Belleville and is building a model of the Saturn 1B rocket.

Mark also joined the cub scouts in 1968, where he earned the wolf, bear and Webelo awards. Since joining Boy Scout Troop No. 793, he has earned the Tote-N-Chip, Paul Bunyan axman, 50-mile alfoat and the scout of the year awards. Mark has served as patrol leader of the Buffalo Patrol and is troop quartermaster.

Besides scouting, Mark is a member of the concert band at South Junior High School.

VANDALS' WORK — Abandoned homes in the Van Buren Estates Subdivision have fallen victim to vandals, who have caused extensive damage throughout three HUD-owned homes in the area. Entire ceilings have been knocked out and holes punched in walls in the vacant residences. Selective Service System to hold lottery for draft

Young men born in 1955 will have their selective service lottery numbers drawn on March 20 during the sixth annual draft lottery to be held in Washington.

Michigan has approximately 75,000 19-year-olds who will have their lottery numbers established by this drawing. The present standby Selective Service System is required to continue to register and classify young men as a part of our defense preparedness program.

All young men are required to register under the draft law at the time of their 18th birthday. They are assigned their random sequence number through the lottery which is held in the year in which they become 19. They are potentially vulnerable to induction during the calendar year of their 20th birthday.

As a result of the lottery on March 20, some of the men born in 1955 will be placed in a class available for military service by their draft boards.

This group will form a standby pool of "readily inductible" men during calendar year 1975. This group would be available to supplement the all-volunteer armed forces in event of a national emergency.

In Michigan 18-year-olds can register at Selective Service System offices or with volunteer registrars who are located in most high schools, colleges and other community centers.

Trustees set paid holidays

The Van Buren Township Board of Trustees has approved the list of paid holidays for 1974 for its employees and administrative staff.

Retroactive to the beginning of the year, the employees received New Year's Day, and Washington's Birthday as holidays under the agreement.

Scheduled holidays include Good Friday, April 12, when city offices will be closed for part of the business day.

The township hall also will close on Memorial Day, May 27; Independence Day, July 4; Labor Day, Sept. 2; Columbus Day, Oct. 14, and Veteran's Day, Nov. 11.

The offices also will be closed on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 28, Christmas Eve and Day, and New Year's Eve and Day.

The paid holidays include election days in the township.

Bills aim at fiscal switch

Two township government bills, designed to change the beginning of the fiscal year and require a set date for publishing the annual report, have been introduced into the state legislature by State Rep.

Edward Mahalak (D-Romulus). The related bills would start the fiscal year of a township on Jan. 1 for all purposes and require that the township annual report be published at least 30 days before the annual meeting. Under present law, township boards must meet on the second Tuesday before the annual meeting to make an annual audit and settlement of final claims for the year, Mahalak said. Also, existing statutes require only that the financial report be posted at least 10 days before the annual meeting. "These are very old laws which relate to times when a township was a very small unit of government," Mahalak said. "Any interested citizen should have every right and opportunity to inspect the report. Then, if he has questions, he can bring them up at the annual meeting," Mahalak added.

Three leave positions on development panel

Three members of Van Buren Township's Community Development Committee have submitted their resignations, according to the committee director, Ben. R. Robertson.

Resigning from the seven member committee for personal and business reasons were Hanno Fontaine of 1160 W. Huron River Dr.; Richard C. Whichello of 13080 Lake Pointe Pass, and Floyd Griffith of 47991 Merle Ct. All are of Belleville.

Fontaine resigned because he is moving from the area. Whichello and Griffith have left their posts because of business activities, which prevent them from serving the committee and attending its meetings as required, Robertson said.

The township's development committee was organized a year ago.

Eagles have 3 champs

Romulus 2nd at regional

Wayne Memorial edged 10 places closer to the coveted Class A state wrestling crown as Coach Don Haney's grapplers ran away with the regional championship held at Bedford Temperance over the weekend.

Of Wayne's 11 qualifiers for the regional, 10 survived the test and will make the trip to Grand Rapids on Friday to compete for the state title.

Wayne amassed 101 points, more than the next two teams - Romulus and Bedford - combined, who were second and third, respectively, with 49 and 35 1/2 points.

Bob Colaianni (129), Larry Silvestri (135) and John Bullard (148) each won gold medals, while Paul Goosby (101), Gary Pate (108), Bob Matheson (122), Steve Fedulchak (141), Bob Nesbitt (170) and Joe Parr (188) were runnersup in their respective weight classes. Mark Ellis was the other Wayne qualifier, placing fourth in the 115-pound class.

"WE'RE in good shape for the state meet," said Haney who was also asked if the one per week attrition rate from his lineup meant that Wayne would possibly place nine in the state finals.

"I'd sure like to think so," said the Zebra coach, "but it would really be pressing good fortune. Though, if the boys wrestle like they have the past two weeks at district and regional competition, I wouldn't say it was impossible, perhaps just improbable.

"The farther you go the tougher it gets, that's the name of the game," Haney said.

Haney and Romulus' Jim Stallings, were honored as the Temperance regional's Outstanding Coaches of the Year.

Romulus had three champs: Phil Ford (115), Brad Smith

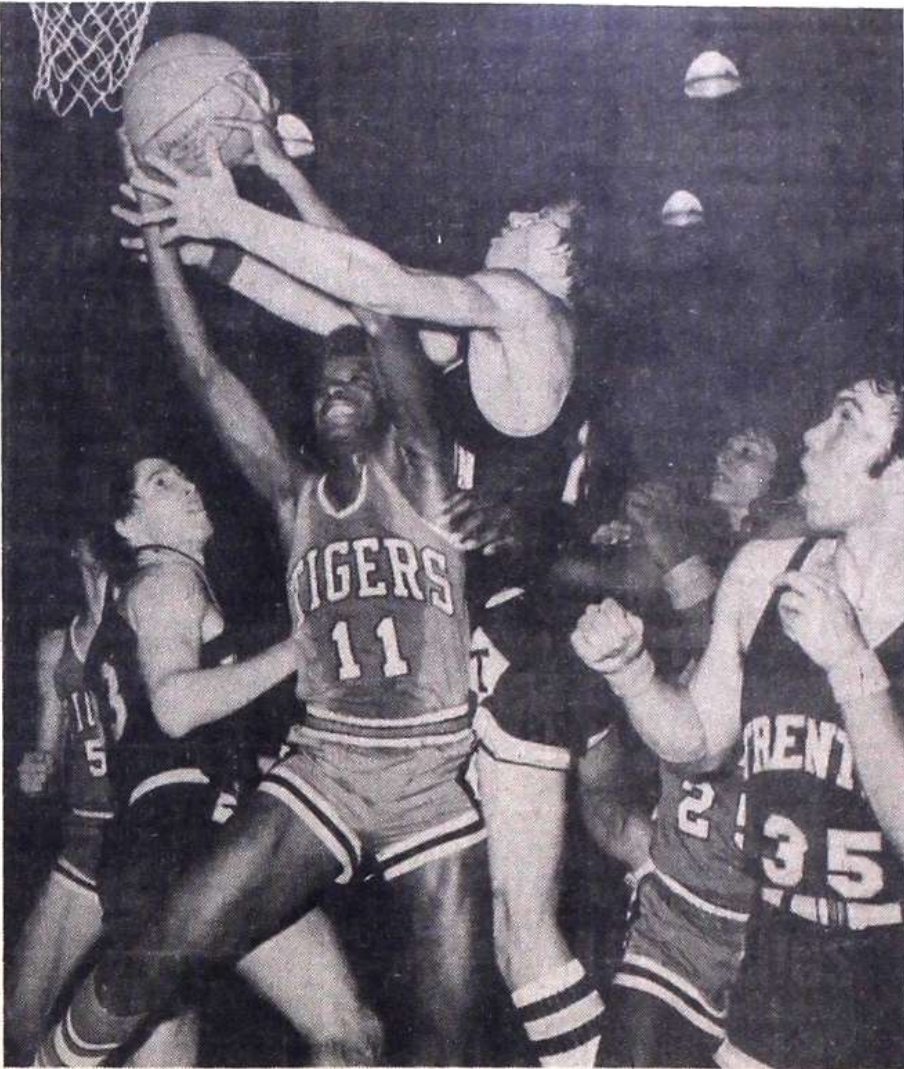

(141) and Henry Reid (heavyweight). The Eagles also had a third place from Rudy Williams, (148).

JOHN GLENN will be represented in the state meet by Agron Vasha, who finished third in the 108 pound class, and Bill Panyard, a fourth place finisher at 148.

Garden City West's Randy Steckroth, a three-time Tri-River Conference champ, earned a third place medal for his performance in the 122-pound class. Randy's lone loss, 7-0, was to Dennis Brighton of Bedford. Brighton is the defending state champ and also the national champ.

"I feel if he has an outstanding day and if he continues to wrestle well he will place in the state," said West Coach Dean Shipman.

Belleville qualified two of its three wrestlers with Hubert Russell (135) and George Medley (170) placing fourth. And Livonia Franklin's Randy Epley (158) also advanced to the state meet.

SAME STORY—Though the action above took place during their first encounter, the outcome was about the same last Tuesday as Trenton continued its hex over Belleville, winning an 82-61 Suburban 8 Conference decision the second time around. Belleville lost the first confrontation 72-56. That's Mel Abraham (11) battling for a rebound. Abraham got 2 points Tuesday night, one less than he scored in the first encounter.—Daily Eagle photo.

has excellent tradition

By TOM MOORADIAN

"It was the best run meet we have ever participated in."

That's how Garden City East swimming coach Ron Clifton graded the 12th running of the Western Wayne Swimming & Diving Championships held at Westland John Glenn.

And Clifton expressed the sentiments of most of the coaches.

"Everything was really done in a cordial manner and equally important, on time," said Clifton, whose team repeated as the invitational champ.

"I know that I wouldn't mind bringing my team back here next year," the East coach said.

Return to Glenn in 1975?

"We would be happy to stage it again," said Al Wachtel, the energetic John Glenn swim coach. "This meet is really something, I think everyone involved came away feeling like a winner."

"If you want, we would gladly hold it here again," Wachtel offered.

When you have a good thing going, stick with it, right? Maybe.

I KNOW I WOULD LIKE nothing better than to return to Glenn next year for WW No. 13, but, unfortunately, we would be breaking with tradition.

When the invitational got off the drawing boards more than a decade ago, one of the principles was that each school which has facilities should be allowed to stage the meet.

By rotating the meet, the swimmers would be able to compete in different environments each year.

We feel that we should try to perpetuate that tradition. And, after all, Livonia Churchill hasn't hosted a Western Wayne Meet. We don't want to give Coach Dave Tavadian an inferiority complex, do we?

Before we leave the WW scene, we would like to thank Coach Wachtel, members of his staff, Sharon Hodder, Jackie Norton, Jean Garbus and Tom Durigon for an excellent job.

And, of course, a special thanks to Principal Frank Higgins, for letting The Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers' athletic community utilize the high school's facilities.

A "COACH'S DREAM" in wrestling is to win all 12 weight classes. It's done in dual meet competition, but it's rarely accomplished in league competition, and never on the state level.

So, when Wayne Memorial's wrestlers pulled off "the impossible dream" Saturday by sweeping all 12 weight classes in the inaugural Great Lakes 8 Conference, Coach Don Haney had only one word to describe his team's performance "fantastic."

Most of the area coaches still don't believe it.

Wayne almost pulled it off in the old Mid-Wayne League last year when the Zebras captured 11 of the 12 weight titles. But, no one ever thought Haney's people would make a farce out of the Great Lakes 8.

Wayne's nearest "rival," Fordson was 101 points behind in total points.

"To our knowledge," said Lonnie D. Lowrey, assistant director of the Michigan High School Athletic Association, "no school has ever swept 12 weights in league competition. There is a slim possibility in a small four-team league, but none in a six or eight team league has done it."

"Are you sure Wayne won all 12 weight classes?" Lowrey asked.

Positive. Just ask the coaches from Wyandotte, Fordson, Riverview, Monroe, Taylor Center, Taylor Truman, or Lincoln Park. They'll know it to be a fact.

And Haney? He's still walking on Cloud Nine - or is it 12?

Belleville bows to Redford Union

Staying true to form Belleville lost a pair of Suburban 8 Conference basketball games last week to teams that were looking up at Coach Tom Niemi's Tigers from the standings.

Belleville bowed to Redford Union 67-64 after earlier in the week losing to Trenton 82-61. The Tigers had their problems with the second division clubs, but were able to beat Plymouth, the new champ, and Allen Park, the defending champ.

"We played a good ball game against Redford Union," offered Niemi whose team wound up with a 3-11 won-lost league record. "However, we missed a layup at the end of the game I felt that was the turning point."

Redford Union's Ken Meredith terrorized the Tigers with a volley of long shots that found their mark. He sank an incredible 11 baskets from the 25-foot range for 22 points. Teammate Glenn Sandee added 13.

Huron '5' grids for district

New Boston Huron can start a whole new basketball season Friday. The Chiefs can forget their horrendous 5-15 finish — 2-12 in the Huron League — and try to bounce back in their first game of the state Class B tournament in the Riverview District.

The contest is at 7 p.m. versus the winner of Tuesday night's Grosse Ile-Southgate Schafer meeting. Huron drew a bye in the tourney pairings making Friday's game its first in the tourney.

The Chiefs put the finishing touches on an agonizing regular season last Friday with their weekly display of cold shooting, as they bowed to league co-champion Tecumseh, 71-63.

Huron did everything else right and dominated the visitors throughout, except in the shooting lanes. The Chiefs sank 23 of 79 shots for a sickly 30 per cent and Tecumseh hit on 25 of 69 for 36 per cent, rather poor itself but just enough to oust Huron.

"We just can't shoot," moaned Chief coach Andy Herman. "We're not getting any scoring out of our for-

All-stater Johnny Long made short work of Taylor Center.

The 6-5 senior Romulus forward pumped in 23 field goals to tie a Romulus individual scoring record as Coach Jesse Meriweather's Eagles flew past Taylor Center 84-60 in the first round of district basketball tournament staged before a sellout crowd at Romulus High.

Long tied Lloyd Ward's 1965 record of 46 points. He missed breaking it, failing to hit on two free throws that would have given him the all-time scoring mark.

"LONG just couldn't miss," said Meriweather, whose Romulus outscored their visitors 16-15 in the second period and marched into the lockerroom holding a 44-23 lead. They came back and won the second half scoring dual 18-13 and 22-24, respectively.

Romulus had two others in double figures: Erv Gibson sank 12 points, while James Hall contributed 10.

Gary Bergum and Glenn Bowling split 20 points between them for Taylor.

"We ran like we know how to run," said Meriweather, assessing the victory. "That's our game."

Area times improving as tankers near wire

The Tri-River Conference got its league meet out of the way over the weekend and prep swimmers set records in nine of the 11 events.

Area finmen will continue their assault on times as the Northwest Suburban Conference, the Suburban 8 as well as the Western Six Conference meets are scheduled to be held later this week.

After league meets come the final test for qualifying swimmers: the state meet. The meet will be staged a week from Friday.

Meanwhile, Garden City East continues to dominate the area times as Coach Ron Clifton's Panthers refuse to yield from the top of the listing in at least five individual events and the freestyle relay. Here is this week's listing as compiled by Cherry Hill Coach Jerry Pawloski. Coach Pawloski can be reached either at the high school PA 2-5900 or at home 941-4399.

Belleville's Abraham picked all-league

Mel Abraham, a 5-foot-9, junior guard who has been shooting the eyes out of the nets this year was named to the Suburban 8 Conference all-league basketball team's first string.

The Belleville cager, who is averaging better than 20 ppg., was named along with Jim Tracz (Dearborn), Greg Mauter (Edsel Ford), Jim Ellinghausen (Plymouth) and Bruce Johnson (Plymouth) for the first team.

Because of a tie in the voting by the coaches in the league, seven players were honored on the second team. They are Eric Agardy (Plymouth), Steve Deller (Trenton), Jim VanderHull (Dearborn), Brighton (Allen Park), Prause (Dearborn) and Beyer (Allen Park).

Honorable Mention was awarded to Todd Bedenis

(Edsel Ford) and Jon Lutz (Trenton).

Reid continued his phenomenal performance in the heavyweight class. He has a 46-meet winning streak and has 14 pins in a row. He has won all of his district and regional matches by falls and has compiled 37 pins on the season.

BELLEVILLE'S Gerald Malecek was satisfied with Medley and Russell's performances and is optimistic of his two wrestlers chances in the state.

"The going will be rough, of course, because the best in the state will be competing," said Malecek. "I will be happy if they both place in the state meet, though."

Belleville suffered one setback, though, before the regional even got started. Randy Slocum, a 155-pound qualifier, injured his elbow in a motorcycle mishap and didn't make the trip to Temperance.

Tom Harrington (at left), of Boise State, defeated Tom Vance, (center) of Utah State for the title. Warrick decided Frank Gilpin of New Mexico, 9-0.

Skaters fare well

Western Wayne County residents fared exceptionally well in the recent Lakeview Invitational Roller Skating meet at Brighton, taking home several first place trophies.

Dianne McIntyre of Wayne and Laura Coleman of Westland captured first place in Ladies Pairs (free style) while Miss McIntyre and Debbie Kullian of Garden City captured top honors in Ladies Dance 12 and under.

Larry Chopp of Wayne and his partner, Judy Landan of Northville, defending state champions in the Intra Dance Division, took first in the Intra, Intermediate, Junior and Senior Dance divisions. Skaters from Michigan, wards. One went 1 of 10 and the other was three of 11.

Indiana and Ohio competed in the meet and the Lakeview Roller Rink.

"We're playing pretty decent ball otherwise, but we just haven't been getting the scoring we should be."

Huron grabbed an 18-11 first quarter lead, held that at 35-28 at halftime then collapsed in the third quarter. The taller Tecumseh club blitzed the Chiefs for 23 points while holding the hosts to 12. The league co-champs then put the finishing touches on the victory by outscoring Huron 20-15 in the final eight minutes.

Al Schafer sparked Tecumseh's third quarter surge by scoring 10 of his 23 points during that time.

Huron's Joe Richert clinched the conference scoring title by burning the nets for a game-high 33 points, a personal record. He was the only Chief in double figures.

Besides Schafer, Tecumseh had one player in two figures, Kevin Mack.

Though they may not be able to eliminate all of their discontent arising from inept basketball officials, the Great Lakes 8 Conference basketball coaches have taken a giant step in solving the problem.

Meeting last night to pick their inaugural all-conference team, the coaches recognized that there is a problem with officials who, because of various reasons, have not been able to keep pace with the pace-moving game.

These officials have caused undue pressure on both the players, coaches and schools involved. In order to eliminate refs who can't keep up with the game Lakes 8 coaches have resolved that in the nearest future to gather a list of the best referees in the area and ask for only their services.

In a span of two years the coaches hope to have the list compiled, then present it to their respective athletic directors who would be responsible for hiring from the list.

Most refs do the job, there's no doubt about it. They are a credit to the profession. They are well-drilled and know the rules' book from one cover to the other. And they also keep in shape, which is equally important. How else can one keep up and see the nudges and elbows fly if they don't move with the action?

But, there are others who...well, should have hung up their whistle a long, long time ago.

Creating a list of qualified officials and attempting to hire the best to officiate games may solve the annual problem which leads to controversy and bitterness after some of the games.

Canton slo-pitch talks set

The Canton Parks and Recreation Department has set the day for softballers who intend to play in the township's league this summer.

An organizational meeting for the men's slo-pitch league will be held 7:30 p.m. on Mon., March 11 at the Canton Water Department offices, Geddes Rd. and Sheldon.

Teams interested in competing should be represented at the meeting. League rules as well as resident restrictions will be discussed.

League games will be played on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Canton Township ball park complex, located at Cherry Hill and Canton Center Rd.

For further information contact Brenda Pollack, recreation director at 722-1121.

Weights decline in class

The average weight loss of persons participating in Van Buren Township's Physical Fitness Program is 14 pounds per class.

The average "resting pulse" is 10 beats less per minute, or 78 beats per minute for each person.

These interesting facts are just two of the many health benefits available to persons enrolled in the physical fitness program sponsored by the Van Buren Township Recreation Department, according to Ben R. Robertson, director of the program.

Although the physical fitness classes are 16-week courses, the program is a year-round activity. Classes are conducted at the Belleville High School gymnasium at 7:30 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

There are 50 participants, one of the largest classes thus far, this year. A new enrollment is being held.

Interested persons are tested initially to determine what physical fitness program is best suited for them at the start of their class.

Varied programs are set up to suit their individual physical needs, Robertson said.

Further information about the township's physical fitness program can be obtained by calling Robertson at 699-2001. Registration is being held at the township hall, 46425 Tyler Rd.

Jaycees gather for meet

Jaycees from across Michigan will be attending a meeting March 19 in the Wellesley Townhouses in Romulus.

More than 70 Jaycee officers from throughout Michigan, including Romulus Jaycee President Mike Pawelak, will hold their annual meeting in the townhouses on Wayne Road near Smith Road in the city.

Topping this year's agenda will be a discussion of the new Project Threshold.

The project is designed to help alcoholics overcome their problems while assuming a responsible place in society.

Red Cross sponsors collection

In effort to meet the communities' needs, a Red Cross blood mobile will be located in the Taylor area next week.

Individuals may donate blood at St. Paul United Church of Christ, 24136 Goddard Rd., Taylor from 1:30 to 7:30 p.m. March 12.

For an appointment to donate, call 282-2434.

SAVES

About a gallon of gasoline a day

With the demand for fuel rising faster than the supply, here's one way to help ease our energy crisis.
According to the latest U.S.
Bureau of Highway figures, the national average for gas mileage is about 13.5 miles per gallon. The new Datsun 1200 gets around 30 miles per gallon or over twice the national average. The average car in the U.S. is driven just over 10,000 miles a year, so you can save about a gallon of gas every day by driving a 1200. With gasoline prices going up, it's a considerable saving of another important resource: your money.
Drive a Datsun... then decide.

SPECIALS FOR THIS WEEK

CLOSING COSTS will be paid by seller to help in the purchase of this two bedroom starter home with 2 car garage, in perfect neighborhood in Wayne. Priced at only $18,900.

DOLL HOUSE on huge lot in Wayne. This home has been meticulously appointed with plush carpeting, peeling, and room decor. Two bedrooms, 2 car garage. A real experience to see. $22,900.

LAND CONTRACT. Terms available on this very clean two bedroom home on Calumet near Wayne High. All new kitchen, carpeting, only $15,900, LC terms or assume FHA mortgage.

1/2 ACRE. In the country is the site of this almost new three bedroom custom ranch with basement. Gorgeous carpeting throughout. Owner had job transfer and this home is now vacant and offered at $28,500. 5 percent down.

WESTLAND RANCH on 70 ft. lot. Three bedrooms, tiled basement, freshly decorated, vacant and ready for immediate occupancy. $23,900. 5 percent down.

FOUR BEDROOMS, this older type home, centrally located in Wayne, offers tremendous space for a large family. The huge kitchen is modernized and has built-ins. There is a large dining room, carpeting, 1 1/2 baths. Just $23,900, liberal terms.

REALTY FACTS. IN THE last 5 years, the cost of an average new home climbed from $25,800 to $35,400, up 37 percent. Down payments rose 24 percent from an average of $6,800 to $8,400. Home expenses, including mortgage, taxes, utilities, maintenance and insurance shot up from an average of $226 to $333 a month, a 47 percent increase. It is good sense to buy a home now to beat the inflation spiral.
